

HEURY LEADS REVOLT IN CURRENCY REVISION

MEETS PRESIDENT IN CONFERENCE LASTING INTO THE NIGHT.

TURBULENT AT OUTSET

BUT TEXAN IS FIRM IN OPPOSING GLASS BILL.

TO GIVE FARMER A CHANCE

If Government Is to Be Partner With Banker, Must Help Produce and Also Laborer.

Washington, July 24.—The administration currency bill today became the center of chaos in the conference of democratic members of the house banking and currency committee. After a stormy session the conference broke up tonight with an interminable vote of opposition and discussion opened up and the prospects of an agreement on the bill apparently reduced to a vague and shadowy hope.

Even Chairman Glass, champion of the bill on the house side, was about ready to abandon the idea of getting his colleagues together. President Wilson regarded the situation so serious that he arranged for a conference at the white house tonight with Representative Henry of Texas, chairman of the house rules committee, who has been advising with the "insurgent" committeemen. The interview lasted until well into the night.

The conference today was turbulent from the outset. After reopening discussion of the fundamental features of the bill—government control through the broad powers of the proposed federal reserve board—Representative Bulkeley of Ohio held the floor for an hour in a discussion of President Wilson's attitude.

It became apparent that the proposal to keep this board a strictly governmental institution, urged by President Wilson as one of the essentials, was a point of wide disagreement.

Then Representative Ragsdale presented a set of amendments practically rewriting the essentials of the bill. These amendments framed by Representative Henry and Representative Ragsdale, represent the sentiment of the so-called "insurgent" democrats on the currency question and provide for currency issued on warehouse receipts for cotton, corn and wheat.

Representatives Henry and Ragsdale announced their intention of fighting for the amendments, not only in the conference of the committee democrats but also in the full committee in the democratic caucus and possibly on the floor of the house.

Chairman Glass said tonight that at the close of today's session he suggested the impossibility of the democrats agreeing and proposed that they take the uncompleted bill to the full committee and try to reach an agreement with the minority members or that they take it to the democratic caucus.

The majority, however, believed they would make further attempt to thresh out their differences in conference.

Wilson's Book Quoted.

President Wilson's recently published political work, "The New Freedom," furnished the text of Representative Bulkeley's discussion. Mr. Bulkeley quoted from the president's work passages which he said showed that the book was written President Wilson was opposed to the idea of placing vast governmental responsibility in the hands of restricted bodies which might in any way be controlled or influenced by financial or industrial interests.

On this basis the Ohio representative argued strenuously on the board powers conferred on the federal reserve board by the Glass bill.

Representative Korbly of Indiana replied at length to Mr. Bulkeley and Chairman Glass took a hand in the discussion, which became rather bitter. This controversy continued for a great part of the meeting and not a vote was taken on an amendment or a step made in the direction of agreeing to any of the features of the bill.

It is expected that the debate on this and other phases of the bill will be extended and that some time will have to be spent in the consideration of the so-called "insurgent" amendments. These propose sweeping changes in the measure.

Henry Criticizes Glass Bill.

In a statement accompanying the amendments, Representative Henry tonight criticized the Glass bill as "written wholly in the interests of the creditor classes, the banking fraternity and the financial world, without proper provision for the debtor classes and those who toil and produce and sustain the country."

"If large business and the bankers said the statement, 'are determined to again force the government into partnership with the banks and we are to disregard the teachings of Jefferson, Jackson, Calhoun, Henry, Clay, and again institute marriage relations between the government and the banks in order to establish a huge and permanent set plan, then I insist that we do amend and so round out the Glass-Owen bill so to permit the farmer and wage earner to come into the scheme on the same terms, at the same cost and upon identical principles upon which we admit the banker and the commercialist."

ANXIOUS TO HELP GATESVILLE SCHOOL

M. M. HARRIS AND SUPT. EDDINS APPEAR BEFORE FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Fireproof Buildings to Be Constructed and Teachers Instead of Guards Proposed.

Austin, Tex., July 24.—The house appropriation committee tonight, and a special sub-committee of the senate finance committee during the day, evidenced a desire earnestly to co-operate with the superintendent and tentative managers of the state juvenile training institution at Gatesville, to make that place an industrial training school in fact as well as in name. The institution that has been starved and otherwise ignored by the legislature and state government, in many respects, for years will be brought to the standard of a modernly conducted school in industrial and graded book education for both whites and negroes committed, the negro reformatory feature and all arrangements for care and instruction of negroes will be separated from the young whites' school, and fire traps will no longer be used as dormitories—if both houses prove to be as liberal and become as informed as their committees on the needs of the institution.

Liberal Appropriation.

Both committees, which heard Superintendent Eddins and M. M. Harris, not only voted unanimously to raise an appropriation for the school amounting to $10,000 more than the superintendent's original estimate for the ensuing two years, but approved the suggestions made for fulfilling the real purpose for which the place was designated as a juvenile institution under the law of 1911, especially the segregation of the negro prisoners and provisions for safety in the several buildings. If the appropriation suggested goes through and is approved by the governor, there will be $10,000 to build the negroes' dormitory, class rooms and workshops at a distance from the white building; to erect a new negroes' present dormitory as a school building and for general offices; convert the present administration building into a reformatory. The senate committee insisted that fire escapes be supplied all the buildings. At the close of today's session he suggested the impossibility of the democrats agreeing and proposed that they take the uncompleted bill to the full committee and try to reach an agreement with the minority members or that they take it to the democratic caucus.

To Perfect the Law.

Following the governor's message to the house this evening, which recommended that the law governing the management of the institution (title 26 of the revised civil statutes of 1911), be amended, so as to provide chiefly for the appointment of a board of managers, Representative Patrick Henry of Wichita Falls will introduce a bill tomorrow. The message will go to the senate on Monday. Mr. Henry's bill will provide for managers to be appointed by the governor, and chapter 102 of the last general laws, which omitted the Gatesville institution—a board of six "persons," however, instead of six "qualified voters." This would permit of the appointment of women, if the governor saw fit. The six managers would draw lots for the two, four and six years' tenure, two members for each of the terms. The bill also will provide that corporal punishment shall be administered only in extreme cases, and then in the presence of the superintendent and the nurse. It will permit the board to name the superintendent without requiring executive approval of the appointment. It will require that the inmates' time be equally divided between class room and agricultural labor. Parole on the merit system, which obtains at the school in the present rules of the board, will be retained.

Interest in School.

Members of both committees said they do not expect any difficulty in obtaining the entire appropriation requested, and Mr. Henry is confident his amendment to the Gatesville school law will be passed without delay. Much interest was shown in the statements of the superintendent and the Wacoan named by the governor, Eddins and Harris expressed confidence in the outcome of their appeal for a new order of things at the institution.

Shot Down On Street By a Stenographer

New Orleans, July 24.—Geo. W. Riehl, a jeweler, was shot and killed by Miss Augusta Agnes Edwards, a stenographer, at Common and Carondelet streets, tonight. Riehl died on the way to a hospital. Miss Edwards, an attractive young woman, emptied her revolver at Riehl. He was struck but once, the first bullet penetrating the temple.

At the police station a note, written by Miss Edwards, was found in her handbag, which stated that Riehl had ruined her life and that she intended to kill him and destroy herself. Riehl leaves a wife and three children.

ATTACK ON BELL TELEPHONE TRUST

ATTORNEY GENERAL FILES SUIT TO DISSOLVE HELLO COMPANY IN WEST.

NOT A NATURAL MONOPOLY

First Attempt to Apply the Anti-Trust Statute to the Telephone Situation.

Portland, Ore., July 24.—Dissolution of the alleged telephone monopoly on the Pacific coast by the American Telephone and Telegraph company—the so-called Bell telephone trust—is sought by Attorney General Reynolds in a civil anti-trust suit filed here today. The government charges the giant corporation and its subsidiaries with absorbing independent telephone companies to destroy competition and create a monopoly in Oregon, Washington and Idaho in violation of the Sherman law.

This is the first attempt ever made to apply the federal anti-trust statute to the telephone situation. Telephone companies have claimed that the telephone, like the railroad, is a natural monopoly and that a single system is conducive to the best interests of the public. The department of justice contends that it is a question of public policy for congress to determine.

It is declared that the suit filed today will not interfere with the sweeping investigation proposed by the interstate commerce commission into the general telephone situation to determine whether the Sherman law should be invoked generally with the purpose of enforcing competition or whether monopoly should be permitted or encouraged under regulation similar to that of railroads.

West Needs Relief.

This step was taken in the Western states because the attorney general believed there existed a peculiar situation demanding immediate attention to cure evils said to have been brought about by unfair practices and illegal combinations. The attorney general asks the court to compel the Bell companies to relinquish control of the independent telephone company of Seattle, the Home Telephone company of Puget Sound, the Northwestern Long Distance Telephone company, the Interstate Consolidated Telephone company and the Independent Long Distance Telephone company. If necessary to accomplish the dissolution, the court is asked to appoint a receiver for the properties.

Attorney General McReynolds well known views that the pro rate distribution of the stocks of the Standard Oil and tobacco trusts did not bring about a real dissolution of those combinations are strongly reflected in today's suit, in which he specifically requests the court to require the alleged telephone trust to dispose of the stocks, bonds and physical properties of the independents "to persons not connected with the Bell companies as stockholders or otherwise."

He asks for the restoration as far as practicable of competitive conditions.

The Weather

General rains throughout North Texas were reported last night. Dallas and Fort Worth got good showers, and the telephone companies reported line troubles from Hillsboro north.

Waxahachie was visited by good showers. Rain fell around Hillsboro, Italy, Itasca and Cleburne. In all cases the rain was reported heavy. Dark clouds from the north and northwest made their appearance early in the evening, and rain was expected in Waco, but up to a late hour no rain had fallen.

While the mercury climbed to 102½ yesterday, Dr. Black, weather observer for The Morning News, remarks that today will be much cooler, and hints that there is probability of a local shower.

Local Temperatures.

Local temperatures, furnished by Dr. L. Block, voluntary weather observer, for the twenty-four hours ending yesterday at 7 p. m.: Maximum 102½, minimum 77; barometer 29.97; humidity 69. Cooler today; unsettled; probable local showers.

Washington, July 24.—Forecast: East Texas: Local thunder showers Friday; Saturday fair, moderate south winds.

West Texas: Fair Friday except showers in southeast portion; Saturday fair.

Louisiana: Local thunder showers Friday and Saturday.

TRADE TRIP IS BIG SUCCESS

LAST OF THE FOUR JOURNEYS OF THE YEAR HAS BEEN HELD.

ALL GIVE WELCOME

TO THE BOOSTERS AS THEY DROP FROM TRAIN.

GOOD BUSINESS IN ALL TEXAS

Speeches Indicate the Friendship for Waco Which Neighbor Towns Have—Trip Does Lot of Good.

It was great! It was par excellence, the most cheering crowd that ever wandered outside the confines of its native city. When 200 stairwells arise with the break of day and leave their homes, mayhap, without breakfast, shave or a bath, or a half undone collar, in order to bring their city into further prominence, when they foregather at an early train, smiling, jesting and filled with a spirit of "bon homie" all imbued with a feeling of patriotism towards their own, their native city—such as these are worthy of recognition worthy of the acclaim of their fellow citizens and worthy of the beautiful city they call their home—Waco.

As the train rolled out from the Katy depot at 6:30 Thursday morning on its long trip it harbored nearly 200 members of the Young Men's Business League of Waco. The itinerary was an extensive one and comprehensive. Sixteen of the leading towns up Central Texas were to be visited; speeches were to be made, literature distributed, hands shaken and, amid it all, there were to be no frowns. The Baylor band was aboard the train, and soon after leaving Waco its strains awoke those who would still have slumbered. A baggage car was comfortably filled with light refreshments, and literature and song were the order of the day.

West on Scheduled Time.

The special pulled into West on scheduled time, at 7:30. The population of this live town turned out en masse. B. R. Ingraham, mayor of West, was at the station and extended a hearty welcome to the visitors of Waco. Among the others at the station were City Marshal J. Thompson and Method Pazzral, city attorney, and J. H. Bridges, one of the aldermen. Mr. Pazzral made the speech of welcome to the visitors. The Young Men's Business League never had been in a spot where they were more welcome than in the city of West. He said that if the visitors knew their business they would not get any further. He was lavish in the bouquets he extended to the great city of Waco he said that West loved it more than any spot on the map, although they were jealous of this city, because it found more favor in the eyes of God and man. The Waco people were as grateful as ever. In his peroration he said:

"We are working for you, and you must not forget to give credit to us for it. Waco is becoming more than any other city in the United States. West has helped you to do it, our city has 2500 population and it is being added to every day."

J. W. Blake, on behalf of the Young Men's Business League, responded in a grateful speech, in the course of which he said: "Don't get jealous of Waco."

TROUBLE IN STRIKE

MICHIGAN MILITIA IS HURRIED IN THE ZONE TO PUT IT DOWN.

Miners Strip Deputies of Their Badges and Many People Are Beaten.

Calumet, Mich., July 24.—Disregarding orders of the Western Federation of Miners against violence, 200 of the striking miners of the copper belt today created enough disturbance to result in the ordering out of troops. By tomorrow night there will be at least 2400 state soldiers including cavalry and artillery, in the mining fields of the upper peninsula of Michigan.

There were no concerted attacks on mine property or persons at Calumet, but several persons were injured in sporadic brawls. So menacing did the situation appear to Sheriff Crane that he asked Governor Ferris for military aid, who ordered Adjutant General Vandercook to rush soldiers to the strike zone.

While there were several outbreaks in various parts of the mining country the chief disturbance that set the troops in motion was an assault on property at Calumet. The company of the Calumet & Hecla company to protect property. None of the mines has attempted to operate, but the strikers object to the presence of the deputies.

About 300 strikers, armed with steel drills, clubs and stones, and a few with firearms, which they fired into the air, marched to the No. 2 conglomerate shaft and stripped the deputies of stars. The strikers then proceeded to the Hecla branch mine and divested the deputies there of their stars.

The deputies could not offer much resistance, as the strikers outnumbered them, but there were many fights after the stars had been collected, and several persons were beaten. A few men were taken to hospitals.

The strikers then surrounded all the surface plants of the Calumet & Hecla company and forced a suspension of auxiliary operations.

FOR MEDIATION IN MEXICAN WAR

EITHER THE UNITED STATES TO CONDUCT IT OR NEIGHBORING REPUBLICS.

NOT A POLICY, BUT SUGGESTION

Nothing Will Be Done, However, Until Ambassador Wilson Confers With the President Monday.

Washington, July 24.—Developments in the Mexican situation today were confined to an informal discussion of suggested plans for a definite policy on the part of the American administration toward its neighbor republic.

Every kind of plan has been suggested to administration officials, from a mediation board of Americans to adjust the dispute and supervise the holding of an election, to a tri-partite commission composed of representatives from the United States and two South American republics, who would attempt to bring about peace between the warring Mexican factions.

There will be no expression of policy, however, until after the conference between the president and Ambassador Wilson, which may not take place until Monday, as word was received at the white house today that the ambassador could not reach here before Saturday night.

While the plan for mediation was scouted by the constitutionalists' representatives here as insufficient, as they do not believe the Huerta government, now in possession of the electrical machinery, can guarantee an honest election, the idea has been given some consideration by members of the senate and by President Wilson as pointing the way to a solution.

Question of Arms Discussed.

The question of arms also was discussed today, and while neither side is getting ammunition from the United States, it is believed possible that a change of policy might follow the conference with Ambassador Wilson. It is thought eventually the embargo may be lifted and arms sold, subject to the risk of contraband transactions.

During the day the democrats of the house committee on foreign affairs conferred about the Mexican situation, and the house generally and record on the subject. The democrats decided feeling against intervention and in favor of backing up any diplomatic move President Wilson and his advisers may feel disposed to make.

Further assurance that Americans at Madera are in no immediate danger was given by the state department today in the following announcement:

"From Chihuahua it is reported that Madera has been out of communication with Chihuahua since Sunday, the 12th, on which day federal troops were withdrawn from the western part of the state. There was no reason to believe that Americans in the vicinity of the town were in danger, according to reports to the state department on the 22d. The federal government has promised to make every effort to relieve them."

Consul Edwards at El Paso reported today that six families were the only Americans supposed to be at Madera on the 20th, and that they are thought now to be en route for the border. The railroad officials have stated there is a locomotive and plenty of box cars there at the disposal of the men, and the road is in operating condition for fully seventy miles to the north. The Madera company would send relief if considered necessary. General Villa is willing to assist."

Reports to the state department say the governor of Tabasco has sent a force to the towns of Ixturbide and Alende against marauders who sacked two American plantations in that vicinity.

No Report of Hind.

Admiral Cowles, in command of the squadron on the Pacific coast, reported that all was quiet at Topolampam, but made no reference to Thomas Hind, the American railroad man, for whose safety he was asked to inquire, by Acting Secretary Roosevelt. It was reported that Hind was held for ransom at a place named Guaymas.

Senate to Quiz Wilson.

When Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson has finished his conferences with the president he will be asked to give the senate foreign relations committee (first) a statement of the situation in Mexico. Some of the members have not formed with the president directly upon the rapidly changing aspect.

The ambassador is expected here Saturday. Secretary Bryan also probably will be asked to take up Mexican affairs with the senate committee.

HAYS IS THE GOVERNOR.

Democrat Carries All but Four Counties in Arkansas.

Little Rock, July 24.—With it is estimated less than 10,000 votes reported, the vote in yesterday's special gubernatorial election is as follows:

Geo. W. Hays (Democrat) 28,995, Harry H. Myers (Republican) 11,176, George W. Murphy (Progressive) 6,575, Emilie Wehrer (Socialist) 2,453.

The missing votes will probably slightly increase Hays' majority.

Hays carried all but four counties, and although these normally give large republican majorities, each went for Myers by but a few votes.

Killed by Live Wires.

Tampa, Fla., July 24.—Two persons were killed by coming in contact with electric light wires, blown from their fastenings, and many buildings were damaged when a severe lightning and windstorm swept over Tampa early tonight. The dead are:

John Whitaker, 30, and Joe Lawrence, 15, drivers of a delivery wagon.

WAR ON COLQUITT HAS OPENED IN LEGISLATURE

WOLTERS BREAKS WITH COLQUITT

HOUSTON MAN HAS WIRED IN HIS RESIGNATION AS COLONEL.

WON'T DECORATE THE STAFF BALL

Says Colquitt Talks About Him and His Friends to All Corners.

Houston, July 24.—Intimate friends of both Governor Colquitt and Colonel Jake Wolters admit today that a break has come in the hitherto friendly relations between the two, and that Colonel Wolters has wired his resignation as a member of the military staff of Governor Colquitt. Differences over legislation are said to be at the bottom of the "split."

Colonel Wolters was in Austin yesterday and on his return here went at once to his summer home in Seabrook, where efforts to reach him today have failed.

Jonathan Lane, law partner of Colquitt, confirmed the report that a breach had developed. He said: "Governor Colquitt became dissatisfied with the attitude of a number of legislators, especially some state senators, on administration measures. He declared that they were under the influence of Mr. Wolters and Mr. Wolters was using his influence against these administration measures."

"Mr. Colquitt did not make his dissatisfaction known directly to Mr. Wolters, but through members of the legislature. It was Mr. Wolters' intention yesterday to wire his resignation as a colonel, but I have no personal knowledge as to whether he did that or not, but presume he did."

Legislation. The governor is said to have had in mind.

Statement by Wolters.

Colonel Jake Wolters tonight gave out the following statement:

"Colonel Wolters is at his summer home in Seabrook, where he spent nearly the whole day. Asked concerning his resignation, he said that he had sent it, but that he did not care to discuss the matter at any length now."

"Concerning the statement attributed to Governor Colquitt that he (Wolters) had probably become miffed over pending legislation, there was no truth in it. He was 'miffed' at nothing in the way of legislation. But he preferred not to serve upon the personal staff of a man who had taken occasion to sit around a table and talk to all corners about himself and his personal and political friends, both in and out of the legislature. Colonel Wolters was positive in his statement that pending legislation had nothing to do with the matter of the resignation."

Governor Knows No Reason.

Austin, July 24.—When the matter of the resignation of Col. Jake Wolters of Houston from the governor's staff was referred to, the governor stated that he knew no reason for the resignation.

Colonel Wolters and John Thompson of Houston had asked the governor to submit a bill which would permit the issuance of a certain kind of insurance policy. The governor's statement that he would offer nothing else until the appropriation bill was passed may have been a reason for Wolters' becoming miffed.

DAVID LAMAR IS INDICTED

Wolf of Wall Street Is to Face Charges in New York State.

New York, July 24.—Charges that David Lamar, Wall Street operator, employed "cunning arts and deception" in an effort to "fraudulently deprive" various corporations of sums of money, are made in an indictment returned by the federal grand jury here made public today. Lamar, who is in Washington, is expected to surrender within a few days.

The indictment is the outgrowth of Lamar's testimony before the senate lobby investigation committee, during which he admitted having impersonated various congressmen, including Representative A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, in telephone talks with New York financiers. He is accused of having attempted to defraud the United States Steel corporation and members of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., including both the late J. P. Morgan and the present J. P. Morgan.

The government bases its action on an opinion given in 1882 by former United States Attorney General Benjamin Harrison Brewster that "a broad and general sense a member of congress is a government officer."

Section 32 of the federal criminal code, under which the indictment was found, provides as punishment upon conviction a fine not in excess of $100,000 nor imprisonment of not more than three years.

Is Blown Into River.

Philadelphia, July 24.—One man was blown from a traveling crane into the Delaware river and drowned, while property in all sections of the city was damaged by a severe wind and thunderstorm, which visited this city today. Eight deaths from the heat were reported at the coroner's office today. The maximum temperature was 90 degrees.

IF HE IS A CANDIDATE FOR SENATE TO HAVE OPPOSITION.

TO FIX ELECTION LAW

SO HE WOULD HAVE TO RESIGN FROM OFFICE.

IS NOT A CANDIDATE

So Say Wise Ones at Austin—Armistead Is Endorsed for Collector of Internal Revenue.

Austin, July 24.—Battle was waged all day in the house and senate against the standards of Oscar Branch Colquitt, governor of Texas. From the convening of both bodies in the morning until the adjournment in the afternoon "get Colquitt" seemed the war cry, and both legislative and political desires were thwarted as much as possible for the members of the special session to achieve any end.

Chester Terrell in the house led an attack on the governor's Alamo bulwark, and when the vote was taken $500 had been added to the appropriation bill, with the express statement that it should be used for the improvement of the property as the Daughter of the Republic. The senate action is doubtful, and the governor has the veto power.

Should Oscar B. Colquitt announce his candidacy for United States senator to succeed Culberson, opposition already has been organized and several lines laid to blow up the possibilities. On the supposition that the health of Senator Culberson will demand an early retirement, when the bill for the direct election of senators by the people is passed, an amendment will be tacked on providing that no officer shall stand for election as United States senator until resignation of his office is effected. If Colquitt intends to become a candidate before his term is up, he must resign to make the race and Lieutenant Governor Mages would succeed him. Furthermore, the same opposition will offer an amendment to the effect that no appointment of the governor's to fill the unexpired term shall be a candidate to succeed himself. This would prevent Colquitt from retaining the office or appointing someone to fill the term who would resign in his favor.

Opposition to Cabell.

Ben Cabell, an appointee of the governor as chairman of the pension commission is not a unanimous choice, and as voted by several senators the appointment may not be confirmed.

Liquor legislation ran rife. Allison wants the Allison bill submitted, so that it may be amended to prohibit interstate shipments of liquor as well as intrastate shipments. Senator Lettmore is clamoring for the club bill. A. M. Kennedy, if liquor legislation is to be submitted, will ask for the Kennedy bill killed by the senate at the last session. This bill is not favored by the governor. Representative Kennedy wants liquor legislation left out of the special session, and reference to his bill may have the desired effect.

Ball Not a Candidate.

Letters received by members of the legislature, confirm the withdrawal of Col. Thomas Ball from the gubernatorial race.

The governor is not pleased with the mileage and per diem bill of $55,000 which reached him today and may not approve the appropriation.

Salary of Banking Commissioner.

After the decision of the commissioner of insurance and banking was granted a salary of $5000 a year.

B. L. Gill, commissioner of insurance and banking, spent today in the department, showing his successor, W. W. Collier, the work to be transacted. Mr. Gill will endeavor to have Mr. Collier assume the oath of office at once in order that the department will have an official head and that he may leave for New York.

The house appropriations committee sent to the printer tonight the completed educational appropriation bill, which has the following summaries:

State University and medical department, first year $708,300, second year $550,250; A. & M. first year $492,000, second year $444,500; Prairie View Normal, first year $126,850, second year $129,100; College of Industrial Arts at Denton, first year $217,432, second year $140,450; Sam Houston Normal, first year $143,350, second year $126,750; North Texas Normal, first year $182,800, second year $129,700; Southwest Texas Normal, first year $74,800, second year $141,000; West Texas Normal, first year $123,000, second year $105,600.

Boom for George Armistead.

A formidable boom for George D. Armistead for the collectorship of internal revenue to succeed Webster Llanagan, was launched today, when all members of the senate except two, 110 out of 120 members of the house, the three supreme court justices, the governor, the lieutenant governor and all heads of departments signed telegrams to President Wilson asking that the appointment be made.

The president had indicated an intention to appoint Mr. Armistead to the postmastership at San Antonio, but no vacancy occurs there until next June.

IN THE SENATE

Austin, July 24.—At the opening of the senate session this morning Senator Darwin introduced the "blue sky" law, submitted for consideration yesterday by Governor Colquitt. The governor's message submitting three additional bills, read yesterday in the house, was read in the senate.

Senator I. E. Clark, who succeeded D. A. Paulus, was assigned to the following committees: Finance, statistics and history, Judiciary No. 2, edu-national requirements, military affairs, congressional districts, and public health.

A concurrent resolution was introduced and referred by Gibson and Cowell requesting the attorney general, comptroller and treasurer to keep the Standard Oil money out of the treasury records until a later date.

The petition of the Daughters of the Confederacy regarding the retention of their museum room was read.

A majority of the committee on federal relations reported favorably on Hudspeeth's resolution of yesterday with reference to the Mexico situation. Senators Johnson and Warren submitted a minority report. Senator Westbrook introduced a resolution asking the governor to submit the Allison liquor bill in order that it might be amended to apply to enter as well as intrastate liquor shipments.

The Webb bill interstate shipments of liquor is forbidden. If this is submitted, the liquor question will be opened up. After disposing of the morning liquor row, the Hudspeeth resolution calling on the democratic administration to make good its pledges for protection of American citizens came forward for a round of argument. It was finally adopted by a vote of 12 to 10. McNeely and Johnson leading the fight upon it.

The senate, getting nervous about the possible disposition of the Standard Oil judgment, then adopted a concurrent resolution by Cowell asking the treasurer, attorney general and comptroller to withhold issuing a deposit warrant for the fund until the legislative committee makes some disposition of the money. The house and senate have both adopted concurrent resolutions, but not the resolution of each other. The senate ordered printed 5,000 copies of the penitentiary investigation committee's report. It will cost the state $1,955.

IN THE HOUSE.

Austin, July 24.—The disposition of the Standard Oil penalty money is still causing debate in the house, but was finally sidetracked this morning when, after debate on the Willacy senate bill, providing for the refunding of Agricultural and Mechanical college bonds to the amount of $295,000 and the use of the remainder of the money to purchase district school bonds, McAshill moved to have the bill printed. It was carried. Such a step will cost the state money to no avail and it is very likely that by the time the bills are printed and ready for distribution the money will have long since been disposed of.

A resolution by Cox towards placating the legislature and the governor was sidetracked by reference to the committee on state affairs. A resolution by Llewelling indirectly censuring the governor for references in his general message to the special session to the congressional free sugar findings was debated. This resolution was caught by the expiration of the half hour limit on resolutions and must await another day for disposition.

The appropriation bill for the expenses of the state government was taken up and an item of $4,000 to pay for a portrait of the late Judge John B. Reagan, painted by Miss Marie Crenin of Palestine, drew an attack from Crisp and Mills. Wortham defended the item, but when an amendment to cut it to $400 was about to be adopted he moved a substitute to strike it out altogether.

Lane to Protest Murray.

Austin, Tex., July 24.—Now that Senator Murray has received an appointment by Governor Colquhoun as fiscal agent for the prison system, it would seem that all chances of the former state senator losing anything by his resignation had been eliminated. Today, however, Comptroller Lane stated that he questioned the legality of the payment of the salary and traveling expenses of Mr. Murray. He stated that he would make an immediate investigation to see whether the law permitted the salary or not.

FERDINAND IN AN APPEAL TO POWERS

PROTESTS AGAINST THE ADVANCES BEING MADE BY TURKISH ARMY.

VIOLATES TREATY OF LONDON

Begs Europe to Put an End to Suffering of People Fleeing From Oppressors.

Sofia, July 24.—King Ferdinand today summoned representatives of the powers to the palace and addressed them as follows:

"I am anxious to protest before Europe against the outrageous action of the Turkish army, which, not content with violating the treaty of London, is engaged in invading the old territory of my kingdom in the direction of Tirnova, Siemeni and Jambol, and is giving itself up to the most frightful excesses, burning villages, massacring inhabitants and spreading panic throughout Thrace."

"I cannot believe that the great powers who signed the peace act now being trodden under foot will treat with indifference and remain passive under the insult piled upon them, and the crimes of which we are the victims. 'In the distress in which the Bulgarian nation finds itself, I have appealed on its behalf before the representatives of civilization and beg Europe, through your intermediary, to put an end to the sufferings of people fleeing before the return of their old oppressors.'"

TURKS INVADE BULGARIA.

Cross Frontier Without Declaring War.

London, July 24.—Without declaring war and apparently trusting that the jealousies of the powers will prevent European interference, Turkey has begun an invasion of Bulgaria. The Turks have occupied and burned villages on the Jamolci road and it is reported have pushed their reconnaissances to Philippolis.

No information has been received as to the strength of the forces that have crossed the frontier. Probably they are only comparatively small bodies of Enver Bey's cavalry. Some skirmishing has occurred on the frontier, but seemingly the Bulgarians have offered no serious resistance.

In Vienna it is reported that the Turks have crossed the Bulgarian frontier in three places, by the Maritza and Lunda Valleys, as well as in the direction of Jambol.

King Ferdinand of Bulgaria has protested to the powers and appealed for European intervention, but there is no sign that Europe will act. Greece and Serbia are throwing obstacles in the way of an armistice, while pushing their attacks in the direction of Sofia.

It is reported Roumania has warned Serbia and Greece that if they continued their advance, the Roumanian army will be ordered to occupy Sofia first.

Turks Get a Seaport.

London, July 24.—The Daily Chronicle reports that the Turks have occupied Dedagatch, on the Aegean Sea.

ELLIOTT TO SUCCEED MELLE

Head of Northern Pacific Is to Handle the New Haven Road.

New York, July 24.—Not only a head of the New Haven & Hartford railway system, but radical changes in the manner of executive management will be recommended by the subcommittee of directors.

This was indicated today by a committee member, who said that whoever was selected to succeed Mr. Mellen probably would have a different title than president—that of chairman of the board—who would be supreme over the entire system, including the Boston & Maine and the trolley and steamship lines.

To the new head of the system, who, according to general expectation in Wall street, will be Howard Elliott, president of the Northern Pacific, will be given the task of working out the proposed changes in policy. It was intimated that they might include the divorce from the New Haven of its control of trolley lines.

NO SETTLEMENT FOR TRAINMEN

The Mediators Are Trying to Bring Warring Rail Factions Together.

New York, July 24.—The railroad situation, involving the threatened strike of 50,000 trainmen and conductors on eastern roads remained practically unchanged tonight after another day of conferences, so far as could be learned from the federal mediators who are seeking to have the roads and the men agree on a platform of arbitration under the Newlands act.

The mediators met the employees' committee in the forenoon and the roads' conference committee of managers in the afternoon. It was announced after the day's conferences that there yet remained several points of the dispute to be settled.

The mediators expressed belief, however, that the controversy would be adjusted by Saturday. The mediators were reticent as to the matters over which the two sides are still at odds.

Forty-One Known Dead.

Binghamton, N. Y., July 24.—Interest in the Binghamton Clothing company's fire, which Tuesday afternoon resulted in the loss of lives of many girl garment workers, shifted today to the public interest. Representatives of several public bodies were in attendance and the investigation early resolved itself in a general probe.

Thus far forty-one persons are known to have died in, or as a result of, the fire.

PARIS DOCTOR'S SERUM

And Texas Physicians Want Some. Compared to New Earth Liquid.

Texas physicians are eager to procure some of the new serum produced by Prof. Vincent of the Valdegrace Military Hospital in Paris. It is credited with being a positive cure as well as preventative for typhoid fever. Its success, it is stated, has been proven in 5,000 cases in Paris.

Serums and other nature specifics are rapidly taking the place of man-made medicines. The world's death rate is lowering in consequence. People are living longer and are freeing themselves of diseases that formerly killed.

One of the greatest modern agencies in prolonging life is the new earth liquid, Vitalitas. It restores decrepit, worn and diseased bodies with new vitality, which is new life. In doing this it sweeps away diseased conditions that man-made medicines cannot conquer. It is particularly effective in banishing ailments of stomach, liver, kidneys and blood. Thousands of people are taking Vitalitas and praising it. Its fame is spreading everywhere.

Vitalitas is only produced in Texas by the Vital Remedial Company of Houston. Such disorders as indigestion, biliousness, rheumatism, catarrh, nervous debility, eczema and the like are cured by it. It is guaranteed. Try it today. See the demonstration in progress at the Powers-Kelly Drug Company. (Advertisement.)

TORREON HAS FALLEN

CONSTITUTIONALISTS DECLARE CAPTURE OF IMPORTANT FEDERAL GARRISON.

Result of Carranza's Personal Work. Federals at Juarez Deny Report.

El Paso, Tex., July 24.—Official announcement was made today by constitutionalist headquarters at Piedras Negras of the capture of Torreon, Mexico, by constitutionalists. Fifteen hundred prisoners, twenty cannon and large supplies of ammunition fell into their hands, the constitutionalists claim.

Details of the battle must be carried nearly 100 miles by courier before they reach telegraph wires. Constitutionalists expect more news soon.

Torreon is in the state of Coahuila, about 200 miles south of the American border and on the western edge of the military activities over which Governor Carranza has assumed personal charge. It is one of a chain of six cities covering a rough semi-circle three or four hundred miles long, extending eastward from Torreon and curving northward to Laredo, Tex., in which Governor Carranza claims to have strong federal forces either checkmated or bottled up. His announced plan last week was to attack Torreon first, his followers claim.

He had about $900 men against about 3,000 in the Torreon garrison. The other principal cities which Carranza's forces claim to be watching are Monclova, Lampazos, Monterey, Saltillo and Nuevo Laredo. Monclova already has been seized by constitutionalists and the next battle is expected there.

Laredo, Tex., July 24.—Denial of the capture of Torreon is contained in a telegram received today from General A. Casso Lopez, in Torreon, by General Joaquin Tellez, commanding federal forces in this vicinity.

General Tellez further states that information from J. J. Zamacoana, secretary of the state of Durango, reports Carranza decisively defeated by General Arguendo, whose forces, reported the railroad, encountered the constitutionalists en route to take San Pedro de las Colonias.

Hind Is a Texan.

El Paso, Tex., July 24.—Tom Hind, assistant superintendent of the South Pacific of Mexico, reported to be a prisoner of the Mexican federalists at Guaymas, Sonora, is a Texas boy. He was engaged as an engineer on the Galveston sea wall and later was in charge of the Southern Pacific's work in curbing the Salton sea in California.

Report Is Denied.

Nogales, Ariz., July 24.—The report that U. G. Wolf of El Paso, Tex., connected with a mine in the Hermosillo district, had been murdered by Mexican bandits, was denied today at the American consulate in Nogales, Sonora, where a telegram was received from Consul Hostetter at Hermosillo stating that Wolf was alive and well.

MUTINY IN SING SING PRISON

State Military Companies Await Call to Suppress the Rioters.

Ossining, N. Y., July 24.—Two companies of state militia were waiting in White Plains and Yonkers tonight under orders to respond to a possible emergency call in view of the situation at Sing Sing prison, where mutinous convicts have been causing serious trouble for five days.

Invoking the riot law, Supervisor John S. Jenkins called upon the Westchester county authorities to be ready to dispatch guardsmen here. He called attention to the gravity of the situation developed in the prison since the fire that destroyed $150,000 worth of property there on Wednesday.

Today a second fire, believed to have been set by incendiaries, was followed by a strike among convicts. Threats that extreme measures would be taken induced the malcontents to return to their cells. When darkness fell tonight the hoots and jeers of hundreds of convicts could be heard over Ossining.

Warden Clancy announced that the prisoners were all within control and that tomorrow morning sixty of the leaders, most of them second term men, would be transported to the state prison at Auburn. This, he expects, will result in a restoration of normal conditions. The spirit of insurrection manifested for several days was inspired from the outside of the prison, he says.

ARREST IN OKLAHOMA

OF TWO YOUNG MEN SAID TO BE STUDENTS FROM WACO.

None of the Waco Officers Know of the Case—McDermott Made the Arrest.

Chickasha, Okla., July 24.—Two young men who say they have been students at a Waco (Texas) college, were arrested at Comanche, Okla., today by Deputy Sheriff Charles McDermott of Waco, charged with counterfeiting gold coins.

The arrest of the youths culminated a chase lasting for a month over Texas and Oklahoma. The boys entered the school and purported to be from Michigan. It is charged they counterfeited five, ten and twenty-dollar coins in their rooms at night, and that they floated over $1500 worth of the counterfeit before the hunt for them became so warm they were forced to leave Waco. Deputy McDermott said he had secured moulds and coins as evidence.

When the above dispatch was received by the Morning News by special telegram and by Associated Press, an effort was made to confirm the story. Communication was had with F. M. Allen, registrar of Baylor, Prof. W. H. Pool, dean of the college at Baylor, and with T. W. Lain at Houston-Cowden hall. They knew of no students giving the names which were given by the young men arrested in Oklahoma and knew nothing of the counterfeiting charge.

United States Commissioner A. P. McCormick and United States Deputy Clerk W. D. Rondthaler said they had not heard of the case. McNamara said he knew nothing of the case.

Justice J. J. Padgett said he had not heard of such a case.

Justice Harvey McRichey said he did not know of such a case.

Chief of Police Hollis Barran knew nothing of the case.

WOMEN ARE TO BE INDICTED

Eight Are to Be Prosecuted for Riding Another on a Rail.

Waukegan, Ill., July 24.—The eight women of Volo, Ill., who recently pined Mrs. John Richardson on a rail and carried her through the village streets, must answer to the grand jury. States Attorney Bady announced today that evidence is being taken against members of the party.

Mrs. Richardson was called to the porch of her residence one evening last week by a neighbor, a powerful young man, who threw her arms around Mrs. Richardson and carried her to the street, where seven other women were waiting with a long fence rail. They carried their screaming prisoner down the main street and back on the rail.

As a reason for their act the women asserted they believed Mrs. Richardson to be too friendly with her brother-in-law. Mr. Richardson, a cripple, helped his wife to leave Volo immediately.

Charleston, W. ### PRESIDENT MADERO SLAIN IN BED AS HE SLEPT

MRS. F. I. MADERO. "W" accepts General Huerta accepts his act.

This was the comment of Mrs. Francisco I. Madero, wife of the late President of Mexico, upon the efforts of Provisional President Huerta to obtain recognition for his government by the United States.

Mrs. Madero charges that her husband was slain in his bed in the National Palace in Mexico City, where he was imprisoned after his resignation. He declines to accept the theory that he was being transferred to the penitentiary. She substantiates her belief by photographs showing her husband's clothes in the room in which he was imprisoned.

"Mexico, indeed, has come to a sad condition," Mrs. Madero concluded, "when there is even discussion of such a man as General Huerta as a ruler. He and Generals Diaz, Moudragon and Blanquet know who gave the order for the assassination of my husband. Should the murderers be recognized as the rulers of the Mexican people, whom they have betrayed? Not by any enlightened country. Who accepts General Huerta accepts his act."

BURNETT ON STAND

TELLS OF THE KILLING OF FARLEY SAYERS IN HOTEL LAVATORY.

Testifies in His Own Behalf—Believed His Life Was in Danger and Fired.

Seymour, Tex., July 24.—Captain Burk Burnett took the stand this morning as the last witness for the defense and told in a quiet, undemonstrative way of the killing of Farley Sayers, for which he is on trial.

Just before Captain Burnett testified witnesses were introduced to show a threat communicated to him a few minutes before the killing and statements made by him just afterward. John Richards of Paducah testified that Burnett said within a minute and a half after the killing that he had to kill, that Sayers was grabbing for a gun. He then told Richards to get the gun and see that none of Sayers' friends took it off of him, when he got there. Ed Russell said that twenty-five automatic. On cross-examination he said Burnett was a stockholder of the bank he is in at Paducah.

Was With Burnett.

J. M. Barley, brother-in-law of Burnett, told of bringing him to town to catch the train just before the shooting. He said Pickett walked over from the fireplace and told Burnett to come on and wash up. They started in the wash room and a shot was fired. Barley ran in, pulling his gun. He declared he did not see Sayers come into the hotel or go into the wash room. He is a constable and said he considered Burnett in his charge after the shooting. Asked why he let Burnett keep his gun he said he thought he might need it. Pickett said, was also an officer.

Bud Barron of Paducah said he told Burnett of the Fort Worth threat in the hotel a few minutes before the shooting and that Burnett said: "I believe that fellow is determined to kill me."

As he came to the actual scene of the killing Burnett rose from the witness chair and took the position he stated Sayers was in when he was killed. His account of the killing was: "I didn't know Sayers was in the wash room. I walked in, had just stepped inside; Sayers was at the wash bowl. He turned his head, saw me and reached while still bent over; I jerked my pistol and shot. Sayers fell over on the floor on the right side."

Jerked Hand Out of Bowl.

On cross-examination he said that as Sayers looked up and saw him he jerked his right hand out of the bowl. He said he could not see for Sayers' body whether he reached for his front pants' pocket or his hip pocket. Burnett said he did not grab his gun until he saw Sayers reach. He shot at his side and did not take sight. There was no time, he said, "I just tried to hit him." In response to a question, Burnett said he didn't think about Sayers' heart when he was struck by the bullet. He didn't see Sayers' gun, he said, but that he supposed he was going after it, and didn't wait further. Sayers didn't face round, he said, just looked up as he entered. Before telling of the actual killing, Captain Burnett told his early history, briefly up to the time he moved to Fort Worth. He then told of the threats communicated to him during the Fort stock show. He was told one evening, he said, that Sayers was abusing him, but was not told then of a threat to kill. He went to the horse show and the next morning in the Stiebold was told that Sayers had said he was going to kill him before he left. He then told of going to the mayor's office and getting a permit to carry a gun and of having plain clothes men sent to disarm Sayers. He said he carried a gun after that up to the time of the killing and kept his eyes open, but was not hunting for Sayers.

FINDS HEADLESS BODY.

Captain of Schooner Reports Tragedy of the Sea.

Boston, July 24.—The discovery at sea of the headless body of an expensively dressed young woman of from 15 to 20 years old was reported today by Captain Charles White of the schooner Jennie Gilbert, upon his arrival in port. To the captain it appeared that the head had been skillfully severed with a sharp knife.

The body was picked up July 16 about 170 miles from Boston and in the track of both ocean and coastwise steamers. It evidently had been in the water but a short time. The clothing gave no clue to the identity of the wearer. Captain White says he wrapped the body in canvas and sank it in the sea.

MISS CARRIE WEYMSS GOES TO KERRVILLE

Today notes the departure of Miss Carrie Weymss to conduct the story hours at the Presbyterian chautauqua at Kerrville. She will remain during the chautauqua season. Miss Weymss will doubtless be invited to appear on the entertainment platform as well, since she is a reader of marked ability and advanced training. This is her first public engagement, and her home friends note this recognition of talent with pleasure.

MRS. EDMUNDSON HOSTESS FOR MERRY MATRONS

In receiving the matrons and a few especially invited guests Mrs. Edmundson had in waiting quite a pleasing pastime as a contest. Really was it the matter of the actual ignorance, what was it which made the women forget even their alphabet? The contest was to answer questions in the simple letters of the alphabet. For example, what three letters betray indebtment? And the clever replied "L-O-V-E." It was all fun, and several were ready with all the answers. Mrs. Edmundson gave a charming hour to her club.

MRS. CAMERON RECEIVES COURTESY IN BUFFALO

Friends here are more than pleased to hear of the delightful summer experience of Mrs. Flora Cameron. At present Mrs. Cameron and Mrs. Frank Baird are in Watch Hill, one of the attractive summer resorts of Rhode Island. They motored down from Buffalo through a beautiful country, and with much pleasure along the road. They retain their car, so have the opportunity for the beautiful drives about Watch Hill. Mrs. Cameron was quite the toast of society during her sojourn in Buffalo. She was the guest of honor at many social affairs.

OFFER TO MAKE FLAG FOR THE COTTON PALACE

Following the frequent remarks that the Cotton Palace has no Texas flag, the offer has come from public spirited women who are willing to place the stitches themselves rather than have no Lone Star banner over our exposition this season. In the meantime President Hoffman assures that a Texas flag will be forthcoming. But is there not room for all? Why not a flag over the entrance, one over the main building, and one on each of the smaller buildings? The Cotton Palace is a state institution, not a national, and the women feel that they will do their part towards having it so recognized.

THE MISSION FEDERATION HAS NOT BEEN IDELE

Miss Ethel Jackson as chairman of the committee to be on the outlook for a woman station matron has by no means been idle during this summer. When the City Federation of Missions holds its first meeting in the fall Miss Jackson and her associates will have a plan ready; not only this, but they will present the name of a woman whom they are confident will make an acceptable matron. The Federation will, at first, place the woman in the railroad stations, to aid women and girl and child travelers in every possible way. It is the ultimate hope that this will lead to the appointment by the city of a woman police for all of Waco. Should this be agitated, the equal suffrage women and the club women become enlisted.

MRS. W. P. BEAUMONT HAS BRIDGE GAME

Although in keeping with the informality of the summer season, Mrs. W. P. Beaumont afforded quite a pleasing game of bridge out at the Huaco club. The game itself was one feature in the enjoyment, but this was supplemented by the assembly of guests, all former home friends of the three honorees, who no longer spend their time in this city. These were the Mesdames Ernest Cortine of Dallas, J. W. Bondurant of Tyler and Miss Ruth Evans, who is spending her vacation from El Paso. Three tables were brought into the game.

Miss Beatrice Beaumont was assistant hostess. A salad plan made the luncheon service. For the prize award Mrs. Beaumont presented an initial vanity pin to each of her honorees. The leading score was acknowledged to Mrs. Bart Moore, whose trophy was an embroidered centerpiece. The consolation cut gave Mrs. Shet Sparks an embossed ink well. To enjoy this morning with the Mesdames Cortine and Bondurant were the Mesdames Jane Moore, Erie Evans and Ruth Evans with Mesdames Moore, Sparks, C. M. Clisbee, J. W. Whitworth, Layton Puckett, Frank Traut and Frank Wells.

MRS. M. C. H. PARK HOSTESS FOR MORNING BRIDGE

Another in the card compliments paid Miss Ruth Evans and her guests, the Mesdames Bondurant from Tyler and Cortine from Dallas, came with Mrs. M. C. H. Park on Thursday morning. In this Mrs. Park opened two rooms of her spacious South Side home and formed a bridge game of four tables. As the close of the enjoyable there, the Mesdames Cortine and Bondurant were the Mesdames Jane Moore, Erie Evans and Ruth Evans with Mesdames Moore, Sparks, C. M. Clisbee, J. W. Whitworth, Layton Puckett, Frank Traut and Frank Wells.

COLUMBUS STREET WOMEN MUST BESTIR THEMSELVES

As soon as the men had finished their three-cornered wrangle, no park for Columbus, park for Columbus, park and pave for Columbus, the women began to realize that their time to speak had come. Immediately Mrs. Louis Crow, who has always been interested in flower and tree growth for Waco, proposed that the myrtle be adopted as a uniform tree for the entire length of the street. She brought forward arguments to sustain the timely growth and foliage for the Texas climate. Later Mrs. J. B. Cornish, who is a close observer of civic beauty, pleaded for something uniform. She does not advocate anything special, but pleads heartily for the uniform. She reports the result anything but satisfactory from the parkway of Houston. There, she says, one park is grass knee high, the next is a beautiful sod, the next is old annuals in decay stage, and the last a lawn which has never seen the lawn mower. Mrs. Cornish pleads for uniformity, as we say.

Now it seems to the writer that the only satisfactory way out of the situation, and for the beauty of our city, is to adopt the suggestion of Park Commissioner Caudill. His idea is that so soon as the paving is finished on Columbus street that the women from along the paved district get together and discuss. Let all agree upon some one thing. And when agreed, all follow. In the cities where the parkway street is made, a park is organized a civic club for the special district. All pay nominal dues. The member, so instructed, contracts with a lawn man, and he mows and sprinkles the entire street. In this way all receive equal attention, and the street is made truly a park. In Houston, as Mrs. Cornish reports, the situation is worse than no parking at all. It will be beyond the pale of the human to expect all the residents along Columbus street to have the same degree of civic pride. This co-operative club will relieve all worry, all work, and at the nominal sum. Suppose Waco tries this. Columbus is not to be the only parkway. This is just the beginning. Why not prepare for this innovation into our city life? Why not take the precaution that our little city is the most beautiful in all Texas?

Society Notes.

Wacoans are comparing notes as to the substance of their post cards. These are arriving from all parts of the country, and not one fails to remark upon the unprecedented heat. So the stay-at-homes are congratulating themselves upon faring as well if not better than their friends who have gone in vain search for the cool climate.

The Merry Matrons are taking their vacation late in the season. They meet with Mrs. E. H. Harden and again with Mrs. Alex Johnson, and are then adjourned for late summer and the Cotton Palace season.

Why not have at the Cotton Palace a section which shows the industries in which women are directors in our city? Such would be an eye-opener to those who think women have no business ability.

New operas and new ballets are coming over to America this season. Their names are too difficult to spell, and no one ever can pronounce them, so we will not discuss further.

It is something like the Hans and Gretchen story as the stretch of imagination, but if the Waco team is the champion, and it plays the Southern champion in Waco, we will admit the women have to do some cramming upon the rules of the diamond.

The first letter has been received from Mrs. D. S. Eddens, who reports that she was so fortunate as to meet the cool wave in Colorado. It has been noted several times that the now popular daisy has been called the "Shasta." There was the time when we had the marguerite, so called from the English, who welcomed their French queen, Margaret of Anjou. Her white flower was the daisy. In the French translation into "marguerite." Thus it came to us, a daisy or a marguerite. But now the wizard Burbank has consolidated the two, in a hybrid variety, this mammoth daisy button which he perfected under the brow of the great Mount Shasta. This is the correct spelling, the Shasta, as all the floral catalogues give it.

They are enjoying hay rides even out to California. Did they borrow he idea from us of the farm country, or do we take it from the mountaineers? Despite these sizing days we manage to have a good time. It is always fine philosophy to think of the joys we have rather than those of the other one has. With the moonlight drives, the bar concerts, the club dances, the picnics and the passing pleasures caught as they fly summer life in Texas has been belied.

Out in California the children are singing the Merchant of Venice. Why is this talent not more cultivated among the children of Waco? Who knows but what we may be harboring some real celebrity? Besides, this cultivates taste for what is really worth while in drama and literature.

Now, coming down to real facts, do you know how to enter a street car, take your seat, and to alight, properly? We doubt it.

The first formal coming-out party so far announced for the approaching season is that in which Mrs. W. P. Beaumont will introduce her daughter, Miss Beatrice Beaumont.

WOMAN STREET INSPECTOR.

Is to Pay Attention to Both Schools and Homes.

Philadelphia, July 24.—For the first time in its history Philadelphia is to have a woman street inspector. Director Cooke of the department of public works yesterday appointed Mrs. Edith Pierce, secretary of the Home and School league, to the place, which was created a few months ago. She will begin work on August 1 and will receive $1300 a year. Mrs. Pierce's duty will be somewhat different from that of the men inspectors. Instead of having a district she will cover the whole city and pay particular attention to the condition of schools and homes. Director Cooke said she will organize sectional associations for keeping the streets, sidewalks, homes and schools clean and will visit them constantly, making addresses bearing on ways and means for municipal cleanliness.

STRONG INDUSTRIAL TRAINING.

A school specially designed for children of mill operatives is a feature of the industrial education system of Columbus, Ga. The school was established with the idea of encouraging attendance among the large class of mill children in Columbus, many of whom were not going to school at all.

An old colonial residence in the mill district was purchased by the board of education for the new school. Special pains were taken to adapt the course of study and the hours in the school to the conditions of mill work. School hours are from 8 to 11 and from 1 to 2:30. The long intermission is to enable the children to take lunches to parents, brothers, sisters and others who may be employed in the mills. This is a regular daily task with most of the children, some of them earning several dollars a week as "dinner toters." The school itself is frequently termed by the children "the dinner toters school."

Although the aim of the school is industrial, the "three R's" are insisted upon even more severely than in the regular schools, because of the limited time the children have for schooling. "Although the prescribed course contemplates seven years," says a federal bureau of education bulletin, "few of the pupils continue after the fifth and sixth year, so strong is the call of the mills. Not more than 1 per cent finish this school and pursue their studies further."

The three morning hours and the first hour of the afternoon are devoted to academic studies, while the last hour and a half of the day is given to practical work. All the boys are required to take the elementary course in woodwork and gardening. The girls take basketry, sewing, cooking, poultry raising and gardening. The school is in session all the year round, and pupils are promoted quarterly. The teachers live at the school and keep "open house" to the people of the community at all times.

This school is only one part of a carefully developed system of industrial training in Columbus that is intended to reach the needs of all parts of the population.

QUIBBLING ON WORDS WHEN ACTION IS NEEDED.

No level-headed person is going to demand that the United States senate act toward either of the powerful factions in Mexico in warlike manner. None is now disposed to demand that the senate call on the president to consider the terms of an ultimatum involving protection of American citizens and property in the upset country to the South. But none will not disagree, who has given any thought to the situation, with the many senators who in Tuesday's debate on Mr. Fall's resolution characterized the policy of the preceding administration, and even of this administration, toward Mexico as weak. It has been inexcusably weak. Mr. Fall's statement, based on personal study and observation, doubtless, and on the reports from his New Mexico constituency that "nothing has been done to protect the American citizens in Mexico" is in substance correct. There has been a desultory insistence that this family or that individual be freed from captivity by both Huertistas and anti-Huertistas who, common brigands that they are, were merely holding these Americans for ransom. There has been less than an occasional demand through diplomatic channels, that amounted to nothing and never had any weight with Huertista people, that Americans in this or that district be protected against either side in the conflict. Piecemeal assurances of protection have been volunteered this government by Huertistas and constitutionalists, neither faction being trusted or trustworthy. Meanwhile, Washington doing nothing but talk, anti-American sentiment and murder fever across the border have mounted and mounted.

"My sole purpose," said Senator Fall, answering criticisms of his resolution which seeks to commit the government to full protection of the "constitutional rights" of American citizens in foreign lands—"my sole purpose throughout this and the former administration has been to prevent war with Mexico. I urged the last administration to realize the situation in Mexico and to act so as to prevent war. But matters have dragged on until now we are told that the situation is so delicate that we should not make a declaration of this broad principle. It is the delay, through failure of the administration to carry out its warnings to the people of Mexico that is responsible for conditions that will continue so long as this policy of delay continues."

Can this truthfully be denied by those who know conditions across the border? And consider the statements of Senator Lodge, probably the closest friend and supporter of the last administration in the upper house, to the effect that he was in hopes that when a new president and a new secretary of State came in they would pursue a different policy toward the protection of Americans in Mexico, as under Mr. Taft's policy our consuls in that country were afraid to assert themselves as their reports were not backed up by the government.

And yet all the senate would do in the face of these daily reports of the jeopardy of Americans in Mexico, the destruction of property and seizure of persons to be held for ransom, was to quibble over the phrasing of the Fall resolution. And Senator Williams suggested that the resolution ought to be passed, amended, "to strengthen the arm of the Secretary of State."

The "arm of the Secretary of State" is now waved gracefully over some lecture platform—and the hurry calls from Mexico for this government to protect its own are coming with increasing vehemence to his department.

Meanwhile the senator from New Mexico is telling the nation who and what is to blame.

GO THE LIMIT.

This from the Austin Statesman is interesting and logical comment on the present chrysalis suggestion of the legislature prohibitionists that liquor should be shut out absolutely from Texas dry territory, by legislating against interstate as well as intra-state shipments:

Again the liquor question is a topic for discussion about legislative halls. There is a rumor that club legislation will be asked. That in itself will open the way for other liquor matters and make it possible for the politician to get in his work for his own personal benefit.

Submission of any matters affecting the liquor question in a special session where the people are demanding a business section and where there are so many real business matters to come before the people, is at least of doubtful wisdom. For the State needs action from the legislature now much more than it needs politics or agitation.

This, however, occurs to the Statesman: If the liquor question must be broached at all, the proposition of prohibition is a bill that will be passed for Congress, under the Webb act of Congress, interstate shipments of liquor, should be accepted by the law makers.

This condition prevails in Texas today. Under the Allison bill, interstate shipments of liquor are forbidden. It is impossible to ship liquor from Dallas to Greenville. Yet liquor is shipped from Kansas City or St. Louis to Greenville. There is a discrimination against the man who pays the taxes in Texas in behalf of the man who never pays a dollar's taxes in this State.

Further than this, the people who desire local option in their communities are entitled to strict enforcement of the local option law. The Statesman believes in enforcing the local option law where adopted. A bill such as Mr. Allison proposes for this session is an aid to bringing this condition about. If there must be liquor legislation, let the legislature pass another Allison bill that will stop interstate liquor shipments also.

By all means. There should be the limit achieved in legislation that will render inviolate the dryness of every prohibition district. To be sure, the complaint in some quarters that wholesalers of liquor in Texas could not ship to Texas dry districts drinkers and homes, but out-State wholesalers could, has not been entirely free of dog-in-the-manger taint. But the Statesman nowhere asserts that dwellers in dry towns want the dryness assured to the extent of forbidding shipments from neighboring States. Neither will we, in the absence of any direct, accurate information as to the express offices' records in Southwestern States, make any such assertion. However, the prohibitionists in the legislature give it to be understood that local option towns do not want liquor shipped from without under any circumstances. Then antagonism to this method should be gratified. Under the Webb act, which does not seem to be worth the paper it is written on as far as concerns general enforcement and protection of dry districts in an option State, liquor shipped into a dry State may be confiscated by local authority as "contraband." It is not, they construe, interference with interstate commerce because such shipments are specifically declared to be not interstate commerce. And the Webb law gives States the right to protect themselves under its terms. Accordingly, there seems to be no reason why the Texas legislature should not put through a regulation that liquor sent into a dry district from out-State may be seized by local officials.

If the pros. want this further security there is every reason the pros. should have it.

Unless it shall appear meanwhile that the prohibition aggregation in Texas likes Hon. Cone Johnson's suggestion to adopt a "Statewide" amendment that will give counties the right to vote whether beer and light wines, but not whiskey, shall be sold within their bounds, better than the old-time proposal to drain the State of the last drop of intoxicants, let every legislator go the limit in protecting dry territory from the invasion of strong drink from any and every quarter.

"The time must come in this country," Senator Borah told the senate, "when we can levy the expenditures and extravagances of the country upon the property of the nation. These vast fortunes have got to take care of the expenditures." And these vast fortunes "have got" to be assured a measure of fair play and our great men who are making speeches for popular reading, and to get popularity, should be very careful to strip their utterances of all suspicion of economic nihilism.

An indication of just how much good any treatment by Americans of the Mexican "federal," except bullets, will do, is the fact that Huertista thugs as well as rebel thugs are holding our citizens for ransom. Let us hope the amount of ransom will be put into ammunition which will be used by Americans to stop this international brigandage.

And if Attorney General McReynolds did permit the half-million holdup in Texas to affect the government's oil business investigation, he would not belong at the head of the department of justice. For nothing was developed in the Texas proceedings except the talk-producing capacity of a few brilliant public counsel.

The "cage" at Mississippi's State prison was destroyed by fire and thirty-five negroes perished because it was a cage in fact. Doubtless another cage will be built and more convicts will be burned to death therein one of these days in our era of humanity and Christian civilization.

If Japanese diplomacy in Mexico can steer successfully between its gratification at Mexico's expressions of friendship for Japan and condemnation of Mexico's expressions of hostility to the United States, it will be some diplomacy.

A "Katy" line from Central Texas to Beaumont and deep water is a suggestion now confidently renewed. But has the railroad applied for the attorney general's consent? The fact must not be overlooked that "ouster" is threatened.

It is a curious process of reasoning that leads the American consul in Juarez to condemn the action of an American who led an expedition against Mexican bandits who were killing Americans' cattle.

The haste of this nation to protect its citizens in the Southern Chinese provinces would be more commendable if there were not greater need of protection in a warlike land nearer home.

Those alluring advertisements by breweries showing cases of beer delivered in domestic kitchens look little of that adamant achievement, the Allison bill.

United States senators are now seeing the "serious crisis" in the Mexican situation that the press of the Southwest has been emphasizing for six months.

The Erie has done well to conclude that the railroad that refuses to arbitrate and runs away will live under strike conditions another day.

Dubbing a preacher "doctor" who has not been awarded a doctorate does not increase his ability but it frequently swells his ego.

Representative Jordan, of McLenan, is not the only public man at Austin who is wondering these days, why the State of Texas "compromised" for half a million a new anti-trust suit for 103½ millions of dollars, on the basis of a defunct suit. But his alternative suggestion that the State had no right to sue at all seems to be borne out pretty well by the nature of the "compromise." Not a single allegation of the suit filed last March was proved. It has eventuated that where the State tried to "do" the State has been "done." Big measures demand the control and direction of big men.

"To Give Daughters of the Republic Hearing." Something tells us they will be "heard" with or without consent of court.

Sure thing, Cone; they don't hate beer and light wine in the godly, goodly places, do they?

Texas Viewpoints

A Bright New Feature.
Denison Herald's new arrangement of its Texas Press column, "With the Exchanges," is among the most interesting of this feature in the State. The intermingling of clipping and comment does full justice to the backbone of the former's thought—when it has any—and to the good sense of the latter—and we have not yet seen any comment in this column that lacked good sense.

"Small" in Money Only.

"You can never build a city unless the citizens who are supposed to be the big guns in the community take a hand and help it along. If they do their part the small fish can be relied upon to do their part. In fact, you come right down to brass tacks, it is the small man that does the thing, the big guns just lead off and the others follow," quoth Brenham Banner. Surely the small man "does the thing." But if the big fellows lead off, supply the inspiration and due share of the money, wherein the necessity of urging them to lend a hand? The Banner's comment leaves us in doubt whether the man with money and position or the little fellow with energy and civic pride is, in its opinion, doing more for the town. For the thousandth time it may be repeated that there is no more ungrateful obstacle to civic progress than the rich moss-back.

Many Want the "Rest."

Noting that "Col." Mulhall asked to be given a short rest because the long questioning had worried him considerably, Cleburne Review says Mulhall "is not the only one, perhaps, who has been caused a little worry by this investigation." It is not difficult to conclude that there are some few score great men in Washington who would not be ungrateful if the sensation-making agent's layoff could be of indefinite duration. Nothing causes more worry than a daring lie, to the subject of the lie.

Labeling the Lobbyist.

A Missouri State senator proposed that lobbyists—the paid variety—be uniformed like to bellhops, ticket choppers or telegraph messengers. "Congressman Garner would tag the lobbyist," says Greenville Banner. "With a tag on, the lobbyist would be an useless figure about the capitol. To make his efforts valuable he must be able to slip up on the side." Tagging the hired legislative agent will not prevent "side slipping." We do not believe, unless the present investigation has precipitated a reign of terror in capitals, there is yet much reluctance on the part of the public servant to take a drink and smoke a cigar in an hotel room and listen to "reason"—if the transom is properly shut and covered and it has been ascertained no dictograph has been placed. Where there's a lobbyist there's a way.

Pro. Discrimination.

"Now that it is a violation of the law to ship intoxicating liquors into prohibition territory, except from out of the State points. Texas business may experience a slight falling off," judges Marble Falls Messenger. "The Messenger admits," comments San Antonio Express, "that shipments of liquor are already coming in through the ports of Eagle Pass and El Paso, so it may be concluded that importations will be greater later on. Unless the legislature takes steps to prohibit the importation of liquor, the new law will discriminate against home dealers and permit sellers outside the State to do a greater business than heretofore. For the protection of Texas institutions it is hoped the legislature will make a change in the present law." Passing up the suggestion that intrastate trade in liquor is a Texas "institution," which is entirely doubtful in view of the indiscriminate operation of the latest assinine law, it may also be remarked that the legitimate drug trade of the State is now in even worse case than the wholesale and family liquor trade noted by our two contemporaries. With the retail druggist up against the unjust tax imposed by the law for using alcohol in the very necessities of his trade, it is likely there will be huge importations of alcohol from other States, and with these importations Texas druggists will be prone to order their other chemicals and drugs on which a profit is to be made. The latest addition to Texas's "regulatory" laws has some tentacles that ought to be chopped off; but there will be no chopping with a legislature of the personnel of the present session and there is every prospect that new and quite as vicious methods of tightening the conditions of doing legitimate business will be engrained.

A Word for Ourselves.

(Hartford Times.)
Now is the season of our discontent. So on this particular point—are other seasons. We have company in all the other glorious newspapers published in this glorious land. The newspaper's great staple is its advertising space. Without, and the receipts it brings, there would be no newspapers. Yet this important fact never seems to reduce the long line of well-meaning people who stream into every city sanctum every day asking that this staple be parcelled out to them free.

Of course they don't ask for the space of the advertising columns. What they want is the news columns. And they want it to print the advance announcements that divers strawberry festivals, music recitals, steamboat excursions, rummage sales, amateur theatrical performances, organization suppers, dances and numerous other things will be given for money, the receipts to be devoted to some worthy cause. The point lies in the money. The newspaper publication is no value to them save as it attracts money and its publication is of no value to the newspaper save as it brings money—barring of course such satisfaction as the publisher and the publishers to contribute to a movement of which they approve.

We have no doubt that many people are asked to give and do give freely to these many causes. The newspaper is usually expected to contribute automatically. Moreover, the newspaper is only a human institution. It cannot give to everything and still pay its bills and it cannot select a list of favored beneficiaries without incurring injustice to others which may be equally deserving. This is a feature which seldom appeals to the people who would not think of asking for free steamboats, free musicians, free theatres, free strawberries or any other commodity necessary to their admirability. But who expect to be given the newspaper's stock in trade as a matter of course.

We offer this foregoing as a matter of explanation of attitude as much as a hint to those good people who are asked to raise their eyes now until the end of time to raise their eyes when the sad truths are set before them.

A Word to Vacationists.

(New York Times.)
Those who go to the country for their health may return with typhoid. The warning issued by Health Commissioner Lester regarding the rural origin of much of the typhoid fever in cities but echoed the report made last January by Dr. Charles Bolduan, assistant to the general medical officer in this city, about the need of organizing rural public health service. The reform has since been instituted by Governor Sulzer's new sanitary commission. But for a long time to come the scenery in vacation resorts will be better than their sanitary surroundings. Infected wells, polluted streams and contaminated shellfish are a few of the chief dangers. Dr. Lederle advises those about to leave town to be vaccinated against the omnipresent peril. The family physician can do it, and the health department will treat free of charge those who cannot pay a physician's charge. The vaccine treatment is urged because it is efficient.

Its application to all recruits for the United States army was made compulsory two years ago, and extended to the entire personnel under 45 years of age. The year 1911, when our troops were encamped on the Texas border, was one of unusual exposures. The cases of typhoid, nevertheless, dropped from 129 in 1910 to 44 in 1911, and to 15 in 1912, although the army increased considerably during that period. Since 1917, when Sir Almroth E. Wright placed this powerful therapeutic weapon in the hands of the medical profession to fight enteric fever, the British army medical corps has concluded experimentally that which shows that the vaccine treatment will be of lasting value to mankind. The most recent of its reports was published in the London Lancet of May 24 last, giving the histories of 19,314 cases of typhoid fever of service abroad had been twelve months. Of these 10,378 were inoculated and among them the incidence of typhoid fever was but one-fifth that among the 9,936 not inoculated. The vaccine treatment was taken with the fever in its mildest form and has been covered. The Anti-Typhoid committee of the British army council, organized in 1904, announces that the value of the vaccine treatment is proved, and its universal application is desirable. We hope a word to vacationists is sufficient.

A Cincinnati Building.

(Popular Mechanics.)
The highest inland building on the American continent is the new Chamber of Commerce building at Cincinnati. The tower portion of this building consists of thirty-eight stories, four of which are below street level. The total height from sub-basement floor to top of tower is 535 feet, while the height above street level is 495 feet. The tower is surmounted by a lantern fourteen feet high, the top of which is therefore 509 feet above street level. The building contains 5,175,000 cubic feet of space and 215,000 square feet of rentable area. The cost of the building alone is $2,500,000, while the total investment, including the lot, is over $3,000,000. The Chamber of Commerce will occupy the second and third floors.

The Pathos of Politics.

(Philadelphia Press.)
Senator Kern tells the story of one of his Indiana constituents who has been in Washington nearly four months waiting to be appointed to some office. So sure was he that he would be reappointed that last February he sold a paying newspaper and camped down in Washington with the proceeds. Though assisted by the senator he has so far received no appointment. This is not an exceptional case. There are many such every time the administration changes from one party to another. They are not amusing; on the contrary they are most pathetic, and some of them are tragic.

HENRY'S LEADING A REVOLT

perience in banking business," one a "bona fide representative of industrial labor" and one a "bona fide representative of agriculture."

Except for the banking member of the board all would be forbidden to hold stock in any bank, trust company or concern, "the security of paper of which may be handled by any of the banks named under this law."

Another provision would provide that ex-presidents of the United States should be deemed ex-officio members of the board.

The amendments would increase the maturity term of paper rediscountable in the federal reserve banks from sixty days, as at present proposed by the Glass bill, to 120 days, and would include farm loan mortgages in the rediscountable paper. The amendments would continue the Glass bill provision for a reserve of 33 1/3 per cent of the bank's total liabilities. They would provide that not more than 50 per cent of the paper rediscounted to a depositing bank should have a maturity of more than sixty days.

United States Notes.

The amendments would provide for an issue of United States notes of not to exceed $700,000,000 and "in addition thereto a sum equal to the difference between the total amount of National bank notes outstanding at the passage of this act." These notes would be redeemable in gold at the option of the holder, and would be subject to any federal reserve bank. The all-important feature of the bill would provide for the division of 1/10 = w currency into three separate groups for three individual purposes—$300,000,000 to be distributed "commercial" currency of the United States, $200,000,000 "industrial currency" and $200,000,000 "agricultural currency."

The commercial currency would be issued to the reserve banks and the industrial currency through the reserve banks to the "States and territories upon legally authorized state or territorial bonds and county and municipal bonds when legally executed and indorsed by the state or territory."

Bonded Warehouse Security.

The agricultural currency would be issued through the reserve banks to the warehousemen upon storage certificates, certifying the deposit of cotton, corn or wheat in bonded, insured and solvent warehouses or storage plants to be approved by the federal reserve board.

The industrial currency would be issued to the "States and territories" and such amounts as are taken by states and territories must be repaid in twenty years.

The amendments propose an elaborate scheme for the issue of the agricultural currency. The amendments provide for the issue of currency to 50 per cent of the market value of warehouse receipts for cotton, when the market price is under 15c, for corn when the price is below 60c a bushel and for wheat when the price is less than $1 a bushel.

There is also a provision authorizing banks not located in reserve or central reserve cities to make loans on "improved and unincumbered farm lands" not to exceed 50 per cent of the land's value.

The much discussed provision for the refunding of the 2 per cent bonds to secure the present currency by the issue of 3 per cent notes without the circulation privilege, which was included in the Glass bill, would be eliminated by the "insurgent" amendments.

President Stays on Sid.

In his determination to get the currency bill through at this session the president has decided to forego his vacation and remain in Washington continuously until the measure is passed. Suggestions that the senate might adjourn after the tariff bill was passed and take a recess until November 1, when consideration of the currency might be renewed, have been prevalent in congress, but they do not find much favor at the white house.

It is expected that Mr. Henry's report on the interview at the white house tonight will play a prominent part at tomorrow's meeting of the house democrats.

ATTACK ON BELL TELEPHONE

tions existing prior to the consolidations and that the Bell companies, their officers and agents be enjoined from acquiring interest in or control of companies of the Bell system.

Aside from the American Telephone and Telegraph company, with a capital of $292,208,975 per value and assets of $224,260,818, sixteen corporations and twenty-five individuals, headed by Theodore N. Vail, are named as defendants.

The suit filed by United States Attorney Clarence L. Reames was prepared by Constantine J. Smythe, special assistant to the attorney general, under the direction of Attorney General McReynolds. James A. Fowler, assistant to the attorney general, and G. Carroll Todd, special assistant.

Injunction Is Asked.

An immediate injunction or restraining order is asked by the government to prevent any further steps in pending foreclosure suits to transfer the physical properties of the Northwestern long distance telephone company to the Bell companies.

Bell companies, by reducing rates below a paying basis, by giving force and by threats, it is alleged, have forced several independent companies forming links in the long distance system of the Northwestern company to violate their contracts for connection with the Northwestern; it is charged that Bell companies in some instances agreed to pay attorney fees and other expenses incurred through possible litigation.

Acquisition by Bell interests of the Independent Telephone company of Seattle, a link in the Northwestern system, it is added, destroyed competition in that city.

New Sales Are Made.

The bill recites the sale to the Bell interests for $550,000 of the Home Telephone company of Puget sound, although the company was appraised at $2,277,132. This concern, it is alleged, was acquired at a foreclosure sale through a contract with William Mead, controlling the majority of the stock of the Home company.

Mead, who organized the Home company, with himself at the head to represent holders of $1,317,800, is alleged to have contracted with the Bell interests not to bid at the sale and to sell a paying newspaper and camped down in Washington with the proceeds. Though assisted by the senator he has so far received no appointment. This is not an exceptional case. There are many such every time the administration changes from one party to another. They are not amusing; on the contrary they are most pathetic, and some of them are tragic.

Beaumont, July 24.—With the bases full in the fourth inning of this afternoon's game, Gus Smith, the local catcher, got a double to right field, clearing the bags. With a run previously made in the same inning on a walk, a sacrifice and a single, and later when Smith scored on Willie's single, the locals made five runs in that inning, which were enough to win with Chappelle pitching an excellent game for the locals. He held the visitors to four hits. Hill also pitched a good game, but his team mates made seven errors back of him.

New York, July 24.—Not since the season's early week has such a baseball hiatus occurred as that of today, when not a single major league game was played, and minor league contests in the east were conspicuous for their rarity. It was an off day anyway for the American league, the western teams being on their way east to open a new series tomorrow. Four games were scheduled in the National league, but rain prevented all of them, as it did numerous minor organization engagements on the day's program.

No general was the rain in major league eastern territory that no attempts were made to start games in New York, Brooklyn and Philadelphia, while in Boston the home team and Cincinnati had played less than an inning when the downpour came.

Pittsburg had to leave New York without a single victory. In Boston, Cincinnati took two out of three, while Chicago had to be content with one in three in Philadelphia. Brooklyn and St. Louis divided the two games played in the former city.

The eastern clubs in the National are on their way west tonight, but only one game—Philadelphia at Pittsburgh—is scheduled for tomorrow.

Boston, July 24.—The contest between Cincinnati and Boston, the only major league game started in the country today, was halted by rain in the last half of the first inning. Cincinnati had scored one run in its half of the first inning on a base on balls, a single and an error by Rariden on an attempted double steal. When the shower interrupted play, Boston had a runner on third, with only one out.

Chicago, July 24.—Western Champion Charles Evans Jr. was defeated in the third round of the Western Golf Championship tournament today by E. P. Allis III. of Milwaukee. The elimination of Evans was the feature of the day's play in the third round at the Homewood Country club. The champion, who was runner up and medalist in the national championship last year, was defeated by the Wisconsin club champion in the 35th green, 4 and 2, chiefly on account of a consistent error by Evans in putting. Warren K. Wood of Homewood survived his match with Fraser Hale of Skokie, although the match went to 39 holes.

Robert A. Gardner of Hinsdale, former national champion, defeated A. C. Perry of Calumet, 4 and 3. J. E. Ledner of Calumet, defeated H. W. Lockett of Homewood, one up in 36 holes.

In the semi-finals tomorrow Allis will play Gardner and Wood will meet Ledner.

State Golf Tournament On Huaco Club Links

Local Players Have Invited Leading Golfers of Texas to Meet in Waco Next Month—Moulden Wins Club Trophy.

According to the present indications there will be an invitation golf tournament on the Huaco links in August in which forty or fifty of the leading golfers of the state will participate. George Rotan, who is head of the arrangement committee, stated yesterday that he had sent out invitations to the clubs in Dallas, Houston, Austin, Galveston, San Antonio, El Paso, Fort Worth, San Angelo and Beaumont, and that already enough answers had been received to make the tournament a practical certainty.

The decision to invite the state golfers was reached at a dinner last Saturday night, at which forty of the Huaco players were present. The dinner was preceded by a closely contested flag tournament, in which Ben C. Moulden won a handsome silver shaker offered by the club. The tournament was a handicap event, the scratch players being given 30 strokes and the others ranging up to 110. George Rotan played with minus five handicap. Moulden, with 110 strokes, planted his flag after his last shot on the twentieth course. Charles H. Brooks came second, finishing in the nineteenth cup, with Azell Adams only one shot behind him. J. M. Carter, Clint Padgett and Dr. J. O. Hall took the next three places.

Mr. Rotan said yesterday that the state tournament will be held either on the 15th or 16th or the 22nd and 23rd, as subsequent events may determine. A number of trophies have already been offered by local firms and individuals. The golf course is being cleared of weeds and being made more attractive by additional bunkers and widening the ditches. Several committees are at work planning entertainment for the visitors during their stay.

Claims He Had Employed of Congress on the Pay Roll From Month to Month.

Washington, July 24.—One more denial of the allegations of Martin M. Mulhall, former lobbyist for the National Association of Manufacturers and one more serious charge against men close to the powers that were in Washington in the days when Mulhall was working as a political agent, marked the progress today of the senate investigating committee through his voluminous correspondence.

Senator Cummins, a member of the investigating committee, declared by Mulhall to have taken him into private conference about public business, denied flatly that he had ever held such a conference with Mulhall.

Mulhall declared in his letters and on cross-examination swore that he had paid the chief page of the house of representatives, the messenger to the speaker of the house, and the messenger to the house ways and means committee monthly for little jobs they did for him. He swore, too, that he had given money to J. H. McDermott, for eight years a member of the house from Illinois. When questioned closely by Senator Nelson, he said that his money was "borrowed" and never paid back.

A development of the day indicated clearly that the senate committee does not intend to allow the attorneys for the Manufacturers' association to cross-examine Mulhall about the charges he has made against officials of that organization, and against former members of the congress and men high in official life in Washington.

House Gets Him Monday.
Chairman Garrett of the special house committee that is ready to investigate lobbying announced today that Chairman Overman of the senate committee had promised to turn Mulhall over to his committee Monday. The professed National Association of Manufacturers field agent will not get through the identification of letters before tomorrow night and the association's lawyers could hardly make an impression upon him on Saturday if the senate committee sits that day.

Another feature of the day was the activity of Senator Nelson, a republican member of the committee, who heretofore has allowed his democratic colleagues to conduct the Mulhall branch of the inquiry almost at will.

Nelson Questions Mulhall.
Senator Nelson today searched Mulhall's memory for particulars of many expense accounts and other matters brought into the limelight in the letters. Mulhall swore that his first visit to McDermott was when he was visiting every member of congress, he could possibly see about a tax of commission bill in the summer of 1908. At that time he found McDermott "an uncouth politician." Later in the same year, he swore, he was introduced to L. H. McDermott, chief page of the house, and McDermott's "confidential secretary."

He testified that McDermott, Secretary Neal, messenger to the speaker of the house, and Harry Parker, messenger to the ways and means committee, were put on monthly salaries by him in that year, the chief page getting $50 a month, while congress was in session, Neal $30 a month and Parker $25. The $105 that he swore went monthly to these three men was given to him, he testified, in check form by James A. Emery, counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers. He said McDermott knew when he employed him that Mulhall represented the association and that he realized what sort of legislation he was opposed to.

McDermott a Borrower.
The witness said after his first interview he had been against McDermott's money put under this head to loan to McDermott and then made it up. He said many of the loans were made out of his own pocket, and complained that he had been a "good thing" down on Pennsylvania avenue.

In speaking of his expense account, Mulhall said they were made out by Katie M. Mulhall, who accompanied him on all his trips. He said she was in one sense his wife, and that she had been driven insane by the campaign in the sixth New Jersey district.

Ill Feeling With Emery.
One letter showed ill feeling between Mulhall and Emery and Mulhall swore that in an interview with John Kirby Jr., then president of the association, he had refused to take more orders from Emery. Later letters showed a friendly feeling between the two men and Senator Nelson wanted to know why there was such a discrepancy.

Mulhall explained that he and Emery were friendly except on matters of business. During the day a letter from Mulhall to Kirby was introduced which said that a bill providing for a government work day of eight hours had died in the house committee on labor. He added:

"I am very glad to report that Mr. Covington, the Maryland democratic member of the committee, stayed away until ten minutes of 12, and was of no use to the democrats while the committee was in session as he voted with the republicans to adjourn. This is the third time that I can positively state that Covington in a large measure saved us from getting in the eight-hour bill at this session."

Gomper's Steel Pigeon.
One June 4, 1910, Mulhall wrote to Kirby about an effort he said was to be made in the house to put an eight-hour rider on the sundry civil appropriation bill. He said William Hughes, back of the rider, and that John Dwight, republican whip of the house, and James A. Tawney, chairman of the "finance committee," were making arrangements to fight the scheme.

"There is no finance committee in the house," said Senator Nelson. "Mr. Tawney was chairman of the committee on appropriations." The witness explained he did not make his reports for days after he had his "interviews" and that he might have got mixed in his notes. Hughes in this letter was called "Gomper's steel pigeon."

Mulhall's correspondence first put in the record today concerned his efforts to beat Representative Herbert Parsons of New York for re-election in 1910, told of reading the "riot act" to Representative Ralph Cole of Ohio because of his opposition to former Speaker Cannon and gave details of George Gordon Battle for governor of New York.

On February 3, 1910, Mulhall wrote John Kirby Jr. about the fight on Cannon and added:

"Mr. Sherman confidently stated to me that President Taft is now being made aware of the many good things our association has done for the republican party for the last seven years and he assured me that the president would not press any labor bills at this session of congress and at the close of my interview with the vice president I was more than ever confident

WOMAN RIDDEN ON RAIL

MRS. JOHN H. RICHARDSON

Sixteen women of Volo, Ill., a village near Chicago, are tremblingly awaiting arrest for riding Mrs. John H. Richardson on a rail and dumping her into a mud puddle on the outskirts of the town. Warrants will be issued for the arrest of the sixteen women.

Mrs. Richardson, made ill by the shock of her experience, declares she will prosecute her assailants vigorously. "They are idle gossips," she said. "Their statement that I neglected my household duties and left my crippled husband at home alone while I went driving with Will Dunnell, my brother-in-law, is a wicked falsehood."

"I always attended to my household duties and minded my own affairs, while they passed the most of their time playing cards and gossiping."

"I know them all and I shall prosecute them to the full extent of the law."

Mott strongly and had wished to have the National Association of Manufacturers fight him for rays of light. He said he afterwards often talked with McDermott about labor bills, and other matters of that kind.

"Did you give him any funds?" asked Senator Nelson.

"I didn't have a chance," said Mulhall. "He borrowed it and kept on borrowing it."

"Did he pay it back?"

"No sir."

He said he loaned McDermott money in 1910 and 1911, and in 1912, when he helped him in his fight for re-election, he aided in the collection of a fund of about $750 from manufacturers in McDermott's district in Chicago. He said McDermott told him many things, showed him "Gomper's" private letters and in other ways was useful.

"He considered all these as payments for the loans," suggested Senator Nelson.

"I looked at it that way," answered Mulhall.

Pay for Party Workers.
Many of Mulhall's expense accounts examined late today showed items of $50 per week paid to "two party workers" in the Second New Jersey district, where he said the association was fighting to re-elect John J. Gardner.

Senator Nelson finally pinned Mulhall down to an acknowledgment that he had given the money to a "Mr. Feeny of Philadelphia," and he did not know where it had gone beyond that.

Witness said he might have used some of the money put under this head to loan to McDermott and then made it up. He said many of the loans were made out of his own pocket, and complained that he had been a "good thing" down on Pennsylvania avenue.

In speaking of his expense account, Mulhall said they were made out by Katie M. Mulhall, who accompanied him on all his trips. He said she was in one sense his wife, and that she had been driven insane by the campaign in the sixth New Jersey district.

Ill Feeling With Emery.
One letter showed ill feeling between Mulhall and Emery and Mulhall swore that in an interview with John Kirby Jr., then president of the association, he had refused to take more orders from Emery. Gomper's Steel Pigeon.

He said William Hughes, back of the rider, and that John Dwight, republican whip of the house, and James A. Tawney, chairman of the "finance committee," were making arrangements to fight the scheme.

of complete success in Washington this winter."

Fight on Collector Stone.
Writing to General Manager Bird, Mulhall said:

"We intend to start more hell in Baltimore among the politicians than has ever been started there before."

The letter explained that the fight was to be made on Wm. H. Stone, collector of customs, and spoke of Stone's friendliness to "labor agitators."

On February 3, 1910, he wrote Schwedtmann that the eight-hour bill was pretty well cornered in the subcommittee of the house and there was no danger. He wrote Kirby on the same subject:

"Gardner named his subcommittee as Mr. Emery and I had agreed. It now consists of Cleveland, Madison and Allen, republicans; Rainey and Covington, democrats. We feel that if the bill goes to this subcommittee there will be no danger for the rest of the session."

February 10, Mulhall wrote Kirby about senators to be elected. "Dick of Ohio has sought our aid; Scott of West Virginia, Depew of New York and Carter of Montana. Of course we have had Aldrich on our list for the last nine months."

Mulhall testified Carter never asked aid from the manufacturers, but suggested a personal visit by Mulhall to Montana.

Senator Cummins added his denial. In a letter to John Kirby, president of the association, Mulhall told of meeting Senator Cummins in May, 1910, and going to the room of the late Senator Dolliver, where they talked about a speech to be made in the house of representatives by Representative Kendall of Iowa.

Didn't See Mulhall.
Senator Cummins denied that statement categorically.

"I have no recollection of seeing Mulhall, speaking to him on any subject, but I am not prepared to say I have not," said Senator Cummins.

"As a matter of fact," observed Senator Cummins, "the room then occupied by Senator Dolliver was a single room. I don't care to cross-examine this witness any further."

Had Chased Cummins.
Mulhall declared that he had no intention of implying that Senator Cummins had done anything wrong and the senator replied that he was not making an explanation because he believed himself involved in any way, but because he believed Mulhall's statements were incorrect.

Mulhall added that the Manufacturers' association was opposed to Senator Cummins because he was known to favor an eight-hour bill, and declared that if the committee investigated the association properly it would find that it had "chased Senator Cummins all over Iowa."

Mulhall said that he, Counsel Emery and others had a "secret committee"

TALK OVER PLANS OF HOTEL

Architect and Contractor Confer With J. W. Riggins About Brick Annex.

J. L. Westlake of St. Louis, president of the Westlake Construction company, and Otto Lang, architect of Dallas, spent the day here yesterday in conference with J. W. Riggins, the builder of the Riggins hotel. The three went over the hotel plans in detail, and a number of suggestions were made to the construction work that will be adopted.

It is Mr. Riggins' intention to remodel the brick building at the rear of the hotel so that it can be used as an assembly hall in connection with the Riggins hotel. Plans were submitted by the Dallas architect, and these will be placed in effect. The building will be renovated in detail and the latest of the modern hostilities of Texas will be well prepared to take care of any conventions that may be held in Waco.

FALLS FROM BRIDGE.

Tries to Cross Interurban Bridge, But is Cut Off by Car.

W. T. Williams, white man, sustained a severe scalp wound and a wrenched left leg when he fell from the interurban bridge across the Brazos last night at 8:30 o'clock. His fall was broken by the iron work at the side, where he hung by his leg several feet below the level of the bridge until assistance came.

The man was trying to cross the bridge, and had gone half the distance to the east side, when a car commenced to cross from the west end. In attempting to run across, Williams fell. He was taken to the Providence sanitarium, where his injuries were given attention.

PREACHER IN RUNAWAY.

Bryan of Clay Street Baptist Hurt When Buggy Overturns.

O. B. Bryan, pastor of the Clay Street Baptist church, was bruised and cut yesterday morning, when thrown from a buggy at Fifteenth and McKenzie streets. The preacher was returning with Herman West of Bosqueville, where he had been holding a meeting. The horse West was driving became frightened, and in making the sharp turn there, the vehicle overturned.

MISS HOWRY IS DEAD.

Mrs. William Fournay Goes to Oxford, Miss.

Mrs. William Fournay of Franklin street left yesterday for Oxford, Miss., where she was called by the sudden death of her sister, Miss Sue Howry.

Miss Howry, well known to Wacoans, having lived with her sister here for several years, had been visiting relatives at the old family home.

MONEY IN RAGTIME.

Composer Who "Can't Write Music" Has Royalties of $100,000 a Year.

(London Chronicle.)
"How did we begin to 'ragtime'?" For four years the "rag" has enthralled America, and for nearly two the bacilli has infected us. Nowadays we have nothing but rag-rag-ragtime everywhere—at state ceremonies, society functions, promenade bands, and country fairs.

Yet Irving Berlin, who is responsible for the craze, is a very quiet, unassuming man, 25 years of age, of slim build, with dark complexion and hair that reveals his Italian parentage. All the same, he is the very incarnation of "ragtime" in conversation. He admits that the rhythm and lilt of his songs were taken from the negroes.

"But I must have caught the spirit of syncopation in popular songs by instinct," he said. "I can't write a note of music. No, I'm not ragging you when I say that! The melodies strike my ears, I tell my pianist to play them, and I get another man to write them—that's how it's done."

This was the way "Alexander's Ragtime Band," "Everybody's Doing It," and scores of others came to life.

Mr. Berlin has a fine voice, and is able to interpret his own songs to performers. He himself will show us, at the Hippodrome shortly, how they should be sung.

He gave a private entertainment to a select party at the Savoy hotel and arrived here with a sheaf of new "rags" which will be given at the Hippodrome. He is in receipt of the modest sum of $100,000 a year in royalties.

NO "STIMULANTS" FOR JIM.

Wife Had a Few Natural Remedies to Take Their Place.

(Judge.)
"I think, madam," said the professionally polite young doctor to the wife of his first patient in the backwoods of a decidedly non-prohibition state. "I think that your husband needs a good stimulant of some sort, and I will leave for him some." "No, sir," said, with marked decision, "You ain't agoin' to leave Jim

MR. JAMES C. McREYNOLDS

Attorney General J. C. McReynolds was special government counsel against the American Tobacco Company and gathered the evidence and made the argument that led to its conviction. But when his chief, Attorney General Wickensham, agreed with the tobacco counsel and the Judge of the Circuit Court on a dissolution decree which split the trust in different parts, but, in Mr. McReynolds' opinion, left all with in the control of the men who created the original combination Mr. McReynolds sharply dissented. His opposition failed to prevent issuance of the decree, but it played no small part in his selection as Attorney General in the Wilson administration.

no stimulants like ki-nine or pink-sher of iron nor that malt stuff some folks takes nowadays without knowing what it'll do to their systems! "Me and Jim is both down on all stimulants. I'm goin' to fix him up a quart or so o' good rye whisky to take first thing in the mornin', an' I'll stir him up a good, strong whisky egg, and let him have a steam-bath, an' hot brandy punch along in the middle of the afternoon, an' give him a glass o' wild grape wine at night; but as for stimulants, he ain't goin' to take none of 'em, long as I can help it."

Miss Gertrude Barnum, Who Makes Charges Against Cleveland Manufacturers, and Protege

Emily Krail.

Gertrude Barnum.

Miss Gertrude Barnum, daughter of a Chicago judge, a college graduate, and seven years an assistant of Jane Addams in Hull House, has made serious charges against Cleveland manufacturers and those who managed their end of the garment workers' strike in that city in 1911. With Miss Emily Krail, a girl orator, who rose from the factories of the city, she declares that the manufacturers hired a thug named Morris Lubin to join the strikers and incite them to violence, and finally to murder, so public feeling in the city would turn against the workers. The labor leaders, she said, found it impossible to control the hothouse and boys led by Lubin and so much violence resulted from the strike that it was lost.

After that, she went through Ohio preaching a boycott of these manufacturers, taking Miss Krail who had previously developed into a first class labor orator, she said, followed by many cities. They traveled through Ohio, and breaking down he admitted he was employed to break the strike by causing violence. He was sent to prison.

THE LOST SIXTH SENSE.

Animal Mysteries That Indicate a Special Sensibility.

(From the Youth's Companion.)

The pigeon, although taken hundreds of miles away, is able to find its way back to its dovecote; the swallow, returning from its winter quarters in Africa, crosses the sea, and once more takes possession of the old nest. What guides the birds on these long journeys? Is it sight or is it the influence of chances in the climate?

It is useless to talk of sight and of chances of climate when a cat returns home from one end of town to the other, threading its way through a labyrinth of streets and alleys that it sees the first time. And it is not sight that guides my mason-bee, especially when they are let loose in the midst of a wooded country. Their low flight, two or three yards above the ground, does not allow them to take a panoramic view, or gather the "lay" of the land. What need have they of topography? They hesitate only a short time; after describing a few narrow circles, they start in the direction of the nest, despite the cover of the forest, despite the screen of chains of hills that they cross by mounting the slope at no great height from the ground. Such a feat is a great feat, but it does not give them a general idea of their road. Meteorology has nothing to do with the case; the climate has not varied in those few miles of transit.

To explain these mysteries we are driven, therefore, to rely upon another mystery, a special sensibility that is denied to mankind. In strange country, a sense, so foreign to our organism that we are not even able to form a conception of it, guides the pigeon, the swallow, the cat, the mason bee and a host of other animals. Whether or not this sense is magnetic I shall not undertake to decide; I am content to have contributed in no small measure to proving that it exists.

Why is mankind deprived of it? It would have been a fine weapon, and of great service in the struggle for life. If as men of science contend, the whole of the animal kingdom, including man, is derived from a single mold, the original cell, and has evolved itself in the course of time, how comes it that wonderful sense is the portion of a humble few, and that no trace of it is left in man, the culminating achievement of evolution? Apparently our precursors were ill-advised to let so magnificent an inheritance go; it would have been better worth keeping than a vertebra of the coccyx or a hair of the mustache.

Does not the fact that this sense has not been handed down to us point to a flaw in the pedigree? I submit the little problem to the evolutionists, and I should be interested to know what those who talk of the protoplasm and the nucleus have to say to it.

Was Frozen, Too.

An American and a Scotsman were discussing the extent of frost experienced in the north of Scotland, says the Tombigbee Clarion.

"Why, it's nothing at all compared to the cold we have in the states," said the American. "I recollect one winter when a sheep, jumping from a hillcock in a field, became suddenly frozen on the way and stuck in the air like a lump of ice."

"But, man," explained the Scotsman, "the law of gravity wouldn't allow that!"

"I know that," said the American, "but the law of gravity was frozen, too!"

COSTS A DOLLAR FOR CONNECTION

IF YOU BUY GAS STOVE FROM COMPANY INSTALLATION IS FREE.

DOLLINS HAS AN ORDINANCE

To Prohibit Cash Deposit for a Meter. Wants Names of Those Who Paid It.

If a consumer buys a gas stove from the Texas Power and Light company he will get his connection made free. If he has a stove the company might charge him $1 to place a meter in his house in order that he may have the privilege of using the company's gas, although he installs a quarter meter, which assures the company payment for its gas in advance. The company does not always charge the $1. There seems to be no absolute rule or system by which they go about this—some are charged and some are not.

City Secretary John C. Davis said yesterday that he did not pay the $1 and it was not asked.

J. W. Hester, 715 South Fifth street, did not make a deposit on either his gas or electric meter.

W. D. Meers, a fireman, made a deposit of $5 on an electric meter several years ago. Mr. Meers said: "After the company had kept my money two or three years I began to find that they were not forcing every one to make the deposit. My brother, Jim Meers, was not made to deposit, so one day I decided the company had used my money long enough and went down to their office and told them to take out the meter and give my money back. They gave me back my money, and have continued giving me service, but I have the $5. My father, W. T. Meers, who is living on rented property, was given service without the deposit."

Several business men who own their property were made to deposit.

Dollins Preparing Ordinance.

Commissioner John Dollins is framing an ordinance to prevent the company requiring deposits. He said yesterday, "I would like to have as many people who have been forced to deposit on meters to communicate with me as soon as possible, either by phone, in person or either. I believe an injustice is being done the people and I think it can be rectified."

Mr. Dollins thinks the rates charged by the company are high. He is framing three ordinances regulating the service of the Texas Power and Light company.

The first ordinance regulates the charge on installing meters. The second defines the meaning of "bona fide consumers" as mentioned in the charter, and will provide for gas and electricity being furnished people in any part of the city where the average consumer consumes more than a certain amount. There are two blocks between the company's lines and the consumers they must be given service, provided there is an average of three to the block.

Electrician to Test.

The third will give the city electrician power to test all meters and see that they are accurate. Proper testing instruments are to be furnished the electrician.

Commissioner Foster said yesterday that he felt the company was doing an injustice in requiring a deposit on meters.

Although the Texas Power and Light company is occupying the city's lands, to which, according to the best local lawyers, it is not legally entitled, and has for years been practically free from any rent on these grounds, which were dedicated to the citizens of Waco, the company has taken upon itself the power to make any demands of the citizens it deems fit, before it will give the service which, under the city charter, it must furnish on reasonable terms.

The Texas Power and Light company occupies the city commons. According to legal authorities the company can, in the courts, have the company vacate these lands. It is the property of the citizens and the city councils in the past, nor city commissions of the present had any right to sell or lease them, any more than they had or have to sell or lease Austin street.

WANT OWN QUARTERS

PRESIDENT MITCHELL OF AD CLUB URGES ACQUISITION OF HOME ON AUSTIN.

Ad Men Will Talk Suggestion Over at Meeting to Be Held Tonight.

At the regular meeting of the Waco Ad club to be held this evening the matter of securing a permanent home will be taken up. The plan, which originated with W. J. Mitchell, has been discussed with approval by a number of the members.

President Mitchell desires to secure quarters on the second floor of one of the Austin street business houses and to equip the quarters with meeting room, a small model restaurant and smaller business rooms.

Aside from this, little new business is understood to be brought up for consideration, but the president desires that the attendance be as large as possible.

City Building Permits.

The following permit was issued yesterday by the city:

E. Rotan, rear of 529 Austin street, brick addition; estimated cost $1,250.

Will Not Build Power Plant Waco Cannot Collect Bond

Texas Power and Light is Now Operating Waco Utilities With Current from Fort Worth—Occupying City Commons for Nominal Rent.

That the Texas Power and Light company has no intention of erecting the proposed power plant on the east side is the consensus of opinion of all who are in position to know, as well as several of the employees of the company themselves. Also that the $50,000 bond which the company gave the city to assure the building of the plant cannot be enforced, is the opinion of several of the best lawyers in the city.

A visit through the plant on the city commons yesterday revealed the fact that extensive repairs are being made, including the installing of oil burners and other conveniences that will enable the old plant to do the work required in addition to the large Fort Worth plant.

An expert engineer and electrician said yesterday, "I have visited the plant in Fort Worth, and recently the one in Waco. With the large engines with which the Fort Worth plant is equipped, the larger part of the power required for the interurban and local service of both Waco and Fort Worth can be furnished by the Fort Worth plant. With the local plant in the condition it will be after present repairs are completed, it will add enough to do all the work."

While the bond which the company gave the city was as nearly perfect as it could have been made, lawyers say it is very doubtful that the city can recover if the company refuses to build the new plant. Without a consideration a bond is worthless. Every effort was made to insert a consideration at the time the bond was being made. L. W. Williams, who is secretary at the time and he framed a bond that protected the city's interest as much as was possible. The city will likely have to prove damage, in case of the refusal of the company to comply with its agreement.

At the time the bond was made it was known it would be hard to enforce it. In spite of the precautions taken.

Evidence that the Texas Power and Light company does not intend to keep faith with the city is strong. The company has its franchise, which is liberal, and provides for no taxation of its earnings as other cities in the state get; the light plant, which was to be a big asset in the upbuilding of the city, looks to be a dream dispelled. The large Fort Worth plant, with its numerous employees, will furnish the large part of the power for the interurban system, and the little plant down on the river bank will continue to be used as it is now, a crutch only when the big plants are crippled.

The Texas Power and Light company now occupies the city commons under a lease granted by the city at a nominal rental. The property occupied was given to the city for public property, never to be alienated.

The Fort Worth plant is now furnishing the power for the Waco service, the greater part of the day. As soon as the transmission lines were finished between Waco and Fort Worth the operation of street cars in Waco was commenced by Fort Worth current.

Justice Courts.

J. E. HIPP ARRESTED ON GRAND JURY INDICTMENT CHARGING FORGERY.

Says He Did Not Know of Complaint Against Him—Was Working at Hempstead.

J. E. Hipp, wanted in Waco to answer to an indictment by the grand jury charging forgery, was arrested on the public square yesterday afternoon by Constable Leslie Segall and Deputy Phil Hobbs. The indictment against Hipp was returned in March a year ago. It charges Hipp with forging a note. It is alleged he signed the name of R. E. Payne to the instrument, and secured $50 on its presentation at the President National bank. Hipp is a railroad man.

He was formerly employed in Waco, but stated to the officers yesterday that he was working at Hempstead for the Houston and Texas Central, and had been there for some time. He also said he had visited Waco often, having been here a month ago to see his family, who reside here. He said he knew nothing of a complaint against him.

Limitation having expired before suit was brought causing Special Judge J. E. Yantis to return a verdict in favor of the defendant in the suit to try title brought by Mary Cannon vs. A. C. Yeager et al. The case has been on trial in the Nineteenth District court for three days, terminating Wednesday evening. Judge Yantis took the matter under advisement and yesterday returned a verdict in favor of the defendants.

Suit was brought by Mary Cannon to regain possession of certain lands within the city of Waco, which came into the possession of the Cannons ten years ago.

PERSONAL DAMAGES ASKED

E. Sims Sues C. H. Cox & Co. for $1,000, Alleging Injury to Minor Son.

Alleging that his minor son, Oris, had been injured while in the employ of C. H. Cox & Co., E. Sims yesterday filed suit against that company, asking damages in the sum of $1,000. The petition alleges that the company was negligent in that it employed a minor in violation of the criminal statutes, which prohibits the employment of a child under 15 years of age in factories, where machinery is used. According to the petition Oris Sims was scalded while pouring a pot of boiling cream onto a table. Cox & Co. are manufacturers of candy.

The suit was brought by Witt & Saunders.

The receipts and disbursements of the lodge are said to aggregate from $150,000 to $200,000 yearly.

One of the exhibits attached to the petition is a list of the accounts which were paid to the lodge. The list was asked to approve, having attached stubs or receipts, showing where the money had been expended. On this list are items running as high as $13,000. A number of the items are said to call for payment of money to the respondents. It is said the present grand officers of the lodge have been in office a number of years.

The lodge is just bringing to a close one of the biggest sessions it ever held. Delegates from every part of the state are in attendance.

Members of the Negro Fraternal Order Apply to the Courts.

TO MANDAMUS THE OFFICERS

Want an Accounting of the Funds Which Have Been Paid in for Insurance.

Alleging that the lodge is being defrauded of large sums of money and that the grand officers of the organization have refused to turn over the books and records to the regularly elected auditor for auditing, application for mandamus to compel the delivery of the books into the hands of the clerk of the Nineteenth district court was brought yesterday against the Grand Temple and Tabernacle in the State of Texas of the Knights and Daughters of Tabor, chief grand officer of Twelve, et al.

The proceedings are directed against C. E. W. Day of Dallas, chief grand mentor; S. S. Reid of Harrison county, chief grand scribe; Hiram Hawthorn of Waco, chief deputy grand mentor, and M. Sanford of Harrison county, chief grand treasurer. The action is brought by A. S. Jackson, G. B. Young and T. M. Wilson of Waco, J. N. Brown of Hays county and W. M. Drake of Bexar county as relators, in behalf of themselves and other members of the organization.

Special Judge J. E. Yantis, in the Nineteenth district court granted the mandamus at the hearing held yesterday, and ordered that the books be turned over to the court and audited by auditor to be appointed by the court. The order is effective immediately upon the adjournment of the annual session of the grand lodge, which is meeting in Waco. He further ordered that during the present session one of the relators attend each meeting of the special auditing committee appointed by the lodge and at the adjournment of the session the relator is to assume charge of the books and deliver them into the hands of the court.

The mandamus proceeding is the termination of the week of strife which has characterized the session of the Knights and Daughters of Tabor, the largest negro organization in the state, during the annual convention in this city.

Efforts on the part of members to have an auditing of the books of the lodge by the regular auditor, it is said, have caused heated discussions. The petition is one of the most important sessions.

The Knights and Daughters of Tabor have a membership in the state of between 30,000 and 40,000. The organization is a fraternal order, organized in Texas. The session here has been attended by between 1000 and 1500 delegates, and some of the leading negro speakers of the country have addressed the meeting.

The lodge in that in their capacity as grand officers of the lodge, Day, Reid and Sanford have had charge of the receipts and disbursements of the funds of the order for a number of years; that it was the duty of these officers to appoint a committee to audit the books of the lodge; that a committee of which C. L. Humber was chairman was appointed for the years 1910-11-12, but that the said officers failed and refused to grant to C. L. Humber and his committee, for the three years past access to many of the books and records of the lodge, preventing the committee from making a correct audit.

It is further alleged that in conducting the business of the order large sums of money are received and disbursed by the officers, and that according to the information and belief of the relators there are errors in the accounts of the organization, and the officers have refused to make true and correct reports of the large sums of money. The allegation is also made that the remittances from local lodges to the grand scribe, are credited by the officers named as respondents in amounts less than the order actually received, and that the respondents have committed and are committing frauds in the handling of the funds of the organization.

The petition asked that the grand officers be immediately required to hand over the books of the order, stating that they feel that the said books, papers and documents and other instruments pertaining to the business of said organization be left in the possession of the said officers, false and fraudulent entries be made therein and said books, papers and documents tampered with in such a manner that the relators and other members of the organization will be defrauded and robbed of large sums of money.

Judge Yantis refused the application to seize the papers out of the hands of the officers during the present session of the lodge, but named one of the relators to meet with the special auditing committee at each session during the meeting of the lodge, and ordered that the books and papers be turned over to relator immediately after the adjournment of the lodge, to be placed in the hands of the court. He also announced he would appoint an auditor to make an audit of the books.

The receipts and disbursements of the lodge are said to aggregate from $150,000 to $200,000 yearly.

One of the exhibits attached to the petition is a list of the accounts which were paid to the lodge. The list was asked to approve, having attached stubs or receipts, showing where the money had been expended. On this list are items running as high as $13,000. ## PLEAS FOR AUDIT OF THE ACCOUNTS

MEMBERS OF THE NEGRO FRATERNAL ORDER APPLY TO THE COURTS.

TO MANDAMUS THE OFFICERS

Want an Accounting of the Funds Which Have Been Paid in for Insurance.

Alleging that the lodge is being defrauded of large sums of money and that the grand officers of the organization have refused to turn over the books and records to the regularly elected auditor for auditing, application for mandamus to compel the delivery of the books into the hands of the clerk of the Nineteenth district court was brought yesterday against the Grand Temple and Tabernacle in the State of Texas of the Knights and Daughters of Tabor, chief grand officer of Twelve, et al.

The proceedings are directed against C. E. W. Day of Dallas, chief grand mentor; S. S. Reid of Harrison county, chief grand scribe; Hiram Hawthorn of Waco, chief deputy grand mentor, and M. Sanford of Harrison county, chief grand treasurer. The action is brought by A. S. Jackson, G. B. Young and T. M. Wilson of Waco, J. N. Brown of Hays county and W. M. Drake of Bexar county as relators, in behalf of themselves and other members of the organization.

Special Judge J. E. Yantis, in the Nineteenth district court granted the mandamus at the hearing held yesterday, and ordered that the books be turned over to the court and audited by auditor to be appointed by the court. The order is effective immediately upon the adjournment of the annual session of the grand lodge, which is meeting in Waco. He further ordered that during the present session one of the relators attend each meeting of the special auditing committee appointed by the lodge and at the adjournment of the session the relator is to assume charge of the books and deliver them into the hands of the court.

The mandamus proceeding is the termination of the week of strife which has characterized the session of the Knights and Daughters of Tabor, the largest negro organization in the state, during the annual convention in this city.

Efforts on the part of members to have an auditing of the books of the lodge by the regular auditor, it is said, have caused heated discussions. The petition is one of the most important sessions.

The Knights and Daughters of Tabor have a membership in the state of between 30,000 and 40,000. The organization is a fraternal order, organized in Texas. The session here has been attended by between 1000 and 1500 delegates, and some of the leading negro speakers of the country have addressed the meeting.

The lodge in that in their capacity as grand officers of the lodge, Day, Reid and Sanford have had charge of the receipts and disbursements of the funds of the order for a number of years; that it was the duty of these officers to appoint a committee to audit the books of the lodge; that a committee of which C. L. Humber was chairman was appointed for the years 1910-11-12, but that the said officers failed and refused to grant to C. L. Humber and his committee, for the three years past access to many of the books and records of the lodge, preventing the committee from making a correct audit.

It is further alleged that in conducting the business of the order large sums of money are received and disbursed by the officers, and that according to the information and belief of the relators there are errors in the accounts of the organization, and the officers have refused to make true and correct reports of the large sums of money. The allegation is also made that the remittances from local lodges to the grand scribe, are credited by the officers named as respondents in amounts less than the order actually received, and that the respondents have committed and are committing frauds in the handling of the funds of the organization.

The petition asked that the grand officers be immediately required to hand over the books of the order, stating that they feel that the said books, papers and documents and other instruments pertaining to the business of said organization be left in the possession of the said officers, false and fraudulent entries be made therein and said books, papers and documents tampered with in such a manner that the relators and other members of the organization will be defrauded and robbed of large sums of money.

Judge Yantis refused the application to seize the papers out of the hands of the officers during the present session of the lodge, but named one of the relators to meet with the special auditing committee at each session during the meeting of the lodge, and ordered that the books and papers be turned over to relator immediately after the adjournment of the lodge, to be placed in the hands of the court. He also announced he would appoint an auditor to make an audit of the books.
